Marriage Will Lack Blessing Of Her Church

NEW YORK (AP) — Greek Orthodox, the church to which shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis belongs, would approve his planned marriage to Jacqueline Kennedy. But it was highly uncertain that her church, Roman Catholicism, would do so.

That was the mixed ecclesiastical picture today in the wake of the announcement that they intended to wed.

He was divorced in 1960, after 14 years of marriage and two children. Roman Catholic rules do not allow divorce.

Only if Onassis' earlier marriage were found to be invalid, and thereby annulled, would the Catholic rules sanction his marriage to Mrs. Kennedy in that church.

Catholic authorities here saw slim chances for such a determination, and in Rome, a Vatican theologian said, "It would not be a valid marriage in the eyes of the church."

But the door was open to their marriage in the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, whose marital court in 1961 granted approval of Onassis' divorce.

"As far as we're concerned, a second marriage can be contracted in the Orthodox Church," said the Rev. Constantine Eliades, an Orthodox matrimonial expert here.

Orthodoxy in this country authorizes divorce on various grounds, such as adultery, prolonged desertion or imprisonment, or threats against the life of a partner in the marriage.

The basis cited in the Onassis case was not disclosed.

Roman Catholic rules allow annulment are considerably more restrictive, the chief conditions being mental illness at the time of marriage, or fraud by not really intending to enter a permanent, faithful marriage and to rear children.

Whether such factors could be established in the Onassis case was regarded doubtful.

To gain an annulment is usually a long, intricate process, requiring court hearings, evidence and witnesses.

Onassis and his first wife, Tina, were married in 1946 under Greek Orthodox auspices.

Roman Catholicism regards as valid marriages of non-Catholics outside the Catholic Church, such as between Protestants or Orthodox unless one of the impediments is found making it void.

Family Party Flies To Greece For Nuptials

ATHENS (AP)—A spokesman for Aristotle Onassis said today that the Greek millionaire will marry Jacqueline Kennedy Sunday at the island of Scorpios.

The spokesman said that no other details were available.

ATHENS (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy arrived in Greece today to marry one of the world's richest men, Aristotle Onassis, ending five years of speculation about the future of the glamorous presidential widow.

A special Greek airliner brought the bride-to-be and her family to a military airport at Andriada, in southern Greece. As Mrs. Kennedy stepped from the plane and walked down the steps, she was greeted by Onassis, who had flown from Athens to take his bride on to Scorpios, the small seaport-shaped island he owns south of Corfu.

Onassis said they would spend their honeymoon on Scorpios "unless Jackie wants to make a tour of the Mediterranean with Christina," his palatial yacht named for his 18-year-old daughter by his first marriage.

Airport police confiscated all cameras and locked newsmen in the airport's waiting room about 300 yards away just before Mrs. Kennedy's jet landed.

Copter To Scorpios. Airport employees said Mrs. Kennedy was smiling as Onassis kissed her on one cheek. She took a deep breath, looked at the bright warm sun, and took her two children for a brief walk along the runway to stretch their legs.

Then Onassis, Mrs. Kennedy, her party and his sister boarded the DC-8 which had brought Onassis from Athens. It flew them to Preveza, on the west coast of Greece, where helicopters waited to ferry the group to Scorpios.

The wedding will unite the 39-year-old widow of assassinated President John F. Kennedy, left a wealthy woman by him, and a shipping magnate 23 years her senior who is often dubbed the "Golden Greek."

Onassis, 62, was divorced in 1960 after 14 years of marriage to the former Tina Livanos, daughter of another multimillionaire Greek shipowner. They had two children, and she later married England's Marquis of Blandford, the Duke of Marlborough's.

Widow-in-Law Aboard. Mrs. Kennedy's plans to wed were announced Thursday in New York by her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, whose brief statement said: "My

Wallace Takes Breather; Thurmond Speaks Out

Contenders Silent On Bomb Halt

By The Associated Press
Reports of a possible development in the Paris peace talks have revived emphasis on Vietnam in the presidential campaign.

Republican Richard M. Nixon says he'll not criticize President Johnson's decision for a bombing halt over North Vietnam, if it works. But Sen. Strom Thurmond—Nixon's ally in the South—warned Americans not to be lulled into thinking the war will end before election day.

Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey hasn't mentioned the bombing halt rumors, and his running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, refused to discuss what he knows about the Paris peace talks.

George C. Wallace, the third-party candidate for president, said he's feeling tired and suspended campaigning until his running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, returns from a tour of Vietnam.

Nixon told a rally in Johnstown, Pa., Wednesday that, as before, he supports a bombing halt if it doesn't endanger U.S. troops and would improve prospects for peace.

He said the Republicans will support the President if a bombing halt is called and it meets Nixon's conditions.

Nixon said Johnson is "the one man who can make that determination... let's let him make that determination."

"We do not want to play politics with peace," said Nixon.

Campaigns For Labor. Thurmond, R-S.C., told a Columbia, S.C., news conference: "It would be downright cheap politics if the administration tries to confuse the American people" into thinking the war will end soon.

"It's going to take a new administration with firmness and new policies to wind up the war," he said.

Newsmen questioned Muskie in Chicago on developments in the Vietnam peace talks, but Muskie replied: "Would you like to have a frank exposure of what I know about what's going on in Paris or would you rather have a ceasefire?"

Humphrey didn't mention the war as he campaigned for labor votes, which he admitted are drifting to Wallace.

The vice president went on a handshaking tour of Ford Motor

Co.'s River Rouge plant near Detroit and told a noontime rally Wallace is a "union-busting governor."

Humphrey said union men apparently fear they'll lose jobs to Negroes unless they vote for Wallace, but Humphrey predicted there will be plenty of jobs to go around under a Democratic administration.

Humphrey's campaign got a boost in New York state, where the state Supreme Court struck Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's name from the ballot.

McCarthy, who lost the Democratic presidential nomination to Humphrey, had asked he not be placed on the ballot but McCarthy supporters had circulated petitions, anyway.

A magazine of the publishing industry released a tally showing 483 of the nation's daily newspapers have endorsed Nixon, 83 have endorsed Humphrey and 10 have endorsed Wallace.

The magazine, Editor & Publisher, noted Nixon was also heavily preferred in 1960, when he lost to John F. Kennedy.

Wallace said during a campaign swing through Texas "When you vote for the American Independent Party on Nov. 5, you've asserted your manhood in Texas. You've asserted your manhood in our region."

Reverse Decision

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The 5th district chapter of the New Democratic Coalition has reversed itself and now endorses the presidential candidacy of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Dr. William K. Oostra, chairman, said the vote was 26-7, compared with a tie vote Sept. 23 which denied endorsement to the Democratic candidate.

Doctor Shortage

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan State Medical Society said Wednesday it is starting a citizens' group to arouse interest in meeting a statewide doctor shortage and work for creation of a four-year medical school at Michigan State University.

Dr. Robert J. Mason, the group's president-elect, said Michigan needs 536 new doctors every year. The state's two four-year medical schools turn out 300 doctors a year, he added.

The story of how the transplant came about was unfolded Thursday by Dr. James Hayward, professor of dentistry and head of dental oral surgery at the university hospital.

Clinical tests and X rays, Hayward said, show that a new layer of dentin is being formed inside Bill's pulp canal, new sockets have developed in the jaw, and the nerve supply is migrating into the new teeth.

Tooth transplants have been attempted for centuries, the doctor said, but this may be "the first instance in which the teeth survived with a viable pulp."

In previous attempts, he explained, the teeth either refused to "take" in the recipient's jaw or succumbed to his natural defenses against its introduction into his mouth. The operation was performed under local anesthetic and without immunosuppressive drugs.

Two gicuspids were extracted from Margy and transplanted into the upper jaw of 18-year-old Bill last February.

Engine 'Performed Beautifully': Schirra

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON (AP) — With a jolting burst of energy, the Apollo 7 astronauts fired their steering engine today in the most powerful maneuver ever made by a manned spacecraft.

"Yabba-dabba-doo!" shouted Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. as the huge engine flashed to life and spurted a steady tail of flame for 66 seconds as Apollo 7 roared 120 miles above the Gulf of Mexico.

"That was a real nice to-do, the machine performed beautifully," spacecraft commander Schirra reported at the completion of this vital test of the engine that one day will guide

American astronauts to the moon.

Minutes earlier, the wives of Schirra, Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eliseo and civilian Walter Cunningham were disappointed at not being able to see their husbands zip over their Houston homes.

All three gathered at a boat landing at Clear Lake near the Manned Spacecraft Center, hoping to catch a glimpse of Apollo 7 as it dashed across the heavens south of Houston.

View Obscured. But their view was obscured by low level clouds in the southwest.

When the burn started, it was under the automatic control of the spacecraft guidance and navigation system Schirra took control manually the last 30 seconds to demonstrate the ability of the pilot to take over in case the automatic system failed.

He reported that momentarily during the firing, the astronauts were jolted out of their weightless world and that the gravity reading in the cabin was - G — equal to the force of gravity at ground level.

The engine was the most powerful ever fired on a manned space ship. It had been ignited four times earlier on the Apollo 7 mission, with a maximum burn of 15 seconds. Thus, the

Wallace Takes Breather; Thurmond Speaks Out

Contenders Silent On Bomb Halt

Reports of a possible development in the Paris peace talks have revived emphasis on Vietnam in the presidential campaign.

Predict GNP Increase In '69

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — A panel of industry economists predicts an increase of some $60 billion in national output next year, nearly matching 1968's giant strides despite the tax increase.

The forecast was prepared for the fall meeting of the Business Council, blue-ribbon organization of industry executives, by its advisory team of some 20 professional economists.

The growth estimate would lift the Gross National Product to a total of about $915 billion. Sources said the forecast sees continued price inflation. Thus far in 1968 price increases have accounted for about half the GNP increases, which amounted to $21.2 billion in the first quarter, $21.7 billion in the second, and $17.9 billion in the third.

Chairman Arthur H. Okun of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who is attending the closed business session as a guest, has insisted that the administration's anti-inflation package—surtax plus federal spending cutback—will be felt with some severity later this year and early next.

Create Permanent 23-Man Grand Jury

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County's prosecutor was expected to petition Circuit Court today to create what could be the first permanent, 23-man grand jury in the last half-century in Michigan.

Prosecutor William L. Cahalan was reported drafting the petition in the wake of burglary and larceny charges against a number of Highland Park policemen.

His office called a news conference for today to discuss details.

A standing, 23-member grand jury created by the Circuit Court would be in addition to the state's system of one-man grand juries. The single-juror systems, however, have been limited to terms of six months, with extensions up to a year.

Several judges and other legal experts told newsmen they could not recall a permanent state grand jury in the last 50 years or more. Newspaper files failed to disclose information on any such juries after 1917 when the Legislature passed the law allowing one-man grand juries.

A permanent grand jury could be approved by a majority of the 27 Wayne County circuit judges.

It would supplement the current system in which the prosecutor's office presents information on alleged felonies to lower court judges who may then send the case to circuit or Recorder's (Criminal) court judges for arraignments.

The only permanent grand juries operating in Michigan are those of the federal courts, which hand down all indictments in federal felony cases unless a defendant waives a right to jury indictment.

Many large cities and counties in states other than Michigan have standing grand juries which return indictments in capital and other felony cases under their state laws.

Special Episcopal Convention Asks Diocesan Change

When Episcopalians of the Diocese of Northern Michigan met in special convention last Saturday in Grace church, Ishpeming, they accepted a report which should increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the Diocese. The convention also recommended that the regular Diocesan convention next spring pass canonical and constitutional changes which will implement the report.

For a year and a half, a committee on structure and organization had met to study the Diocese at all levels of operation and suggest, if necessary, more effective methods of work.

Committee Men
The Rev. Canon J. William Robertson, D. D., Iron Mountain, served as committee chairman with the Rt. Rev. George R. Selway, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese, the Rev. Ben F. Helmer, Escanaba, and the Rev. William W. Wiedrich, Houghton, as clerical members. Lay committeemen were Mrs. Henry Ask of Sault Ste. Marie, president of the Women of the Diocese; Mrs. Linwood Noyes, Ironwood; Clifford Lewis, Sr., Curtis; and Ralph Noble, Houghton.

The most drastic change would decrease the size of the Bishop and Council to six elected members, three priests and three laymen, who, with the Bishop and certain other ex-officio members, would meet monthly to plan the overall program of the Diocese and guide and direct the departments, commissions and committees in the carrying out of that program. The name of the group would be changed to "The Executive Committee."

Churchwomen
Under the proposed plan, the Episcopal Churchwomen would be directly responsible to the Executive committee with members of the Women's Board serving on corresponding departments and commissions of the Diocese. The program of the Women of the Diocese would then be an integral part of the Diocesan program.

Another change would permit not more than two clergymen to be members of the Diocesan Trust Association. At present, all members of this group, which oversees the invested funds of the Diocese and holds title to all property, must be laymen.

An entire new canon outline, the function of the cathedral, is also proposed.

Constitutional Changes
Two major constitutional changes were also suggested. Although canonical changes become law after passage at a regular Diocesan convention, constitutional changes must pass two successive conventions before final adoption.

One of these changes would remove all restrictions of laywomen who may not now serve as wardens of parishes or missions and are limited in the number of women who may serve as delegates to the Diocesan convention. Another would increase the number of lay delegates from a parish from three to four, those from a mission from one to two and allow one delegate from an established chapel.

Forest Week

By proclamation the President has designated Oct. 20-26 National Forest Products Week. The President pointed out that forests still cover one-third of the American earth; that forests contribute significantly to the economic well-being of the Nation and are equally important in terms of water conservation, forage, recreation, and natural beauty.

Samuel Gompers, the American labor leader, was born in London.

Area Seniors Elect Johnson

Gregg Johnson, quarterback on Escanaba's top-ranked football team, has been elected president of the Escanaba Area High School senior class.

Other senior officers are Kris McDonough, vice president; Cilla Rosemurgy, secretary, and Joy Monohan, treasurer.

Freshman — Nick Micensky, president; Holland McEachern, vice president; Lynn Buckland, secretary; Bruce Bender, treasurer.

First In Lecture Series Features Russian Film

Bay de Noc Community College opened its 1968-69 Fine Arts Lecture Series, with the presentation of the Russian film classic "Ivan the Terrible," a Russian Language film with English subtitles, which depicts the life of one of the most colorful figures in history.

The Lecture Series is planned by the Arts Committee, an organization comprised of students, faculty, and administrators to broaden the students' cultural awareness through the presentation of outstanding films, lectures, and concerts.

The Arts Committee is in the process of bringing to the College the "Once Group," a psychodrama musical group from Ann Arbor, the Northern Michigan Woodwind Quintet, a concert on the classical guitar by Karl Herroshoff, and a lecture by Dr. Murray Banks, psychologist and humorist on "What to Do Until the Psychiatrist Comes."

"Ivan the Terrible" was shown to students and faculty members in the College Student Center, with Don Miller, instructor in the History Department, introducing the picture. Mrs. Nina Whatley, a student at the College, offered an analysis of the historical background of the movie. Mrs. Whatley was born in Eastern Europe and educated in Germany until the Hitler regime forced her to move with her family to the province of Volinia, which was annexed to Russia at the outset of World War II.

She traced the early history of the Soviet Union noting that Russia "in terms of civilization, was at the back end of Europe." She discussed the religious, political, and economic factors influential in the formation of a unified nation under Ivan IV.

D.U.S. Story:

Believe In Girls? Scouting Does

(Fifth Of A Series)
"Do you believe in girls?" The answer, of course, is an unqualified yes.

This query is a conscience-prober, aimed at the two groups of citizens needed most by the Girl Scout Council—potential troop leaders and community investors, the kind of people who believe in girls enough to give financial support to an organization that is devoted to their betterment.

What is the correlation between a girls' organization and a community investment?

Serve Community
Mrs. George S. Douglas, president of the Delta County Girl Scout Council, replies that "the youth of every country is that country's greatest resource. Support of Girl Scouting is a community's calculated investment in its future resources. It is an investment which makes the total community a better place in which to live, both now and in the future."

Col. Murphy To Leave Air Base

Col. Thomas L. Murphy, K. I. Sawyer's base commander, will soon depart for a new assignment at Kadena Air Base, Okinawa. He will leave Nov. 11 and will assume duties as commander of the 824th Combat Support Group in December.

Prior to assuming command of the 410th Combat Support Group at K. I. Sawyer AFB on Aug. 23, 1967, Colonel Murphy was the director of safety for Headquarters Second Air Force at Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

The colonel will be accompanied by his wife and two of their four children. A veteran of more than 26 years of military service, Colonel Murphy entered aviation cadet training in Texas.

Briefly Told

The jury for Circuit Court has been dismissed until 9:30 a. m. Monday, Oct. 28. County Clerk William E. Butler said two civil actions scheduled for trial next week have been settled.

Dr. Vernon K. Johnson of Escanaba is one of 34 dentists who will represent Michigan at the 109th annual convention of the American Dental Association Oct. 27-31 at Miami Beach, Fla. Johnson is an alternate delegate.

Birthday Party: Plan Recognition For 'Pat' Hayes

Friends of Harold C. "Pat" Hayes, the famed host of the House of Ludington will honor him at a birthday party at the hotel on Sunday evening, Oct. 27.

Hayes will be 73 and the program will note his birthday as well as his development of the Upper Peninsula's most famed hotel and his activities as a U.P. booster. Ill health has forced him to restrict his activities recently but his promotional fervor continues at full force.

The Rev. Fr. Charles Carmody will be master of ceremonies and the committee in charge of arrangements includes Ralph Norton, Jack Burroughs, Clifford Perras, Ray Taylor, John Welch, Irving Olsen, Tom Aas, Don Brandt, Jerry Becvar, and Phil McCotter.

A cocktail party will precede the $12-a-plate dinner and invitations have been sent to friends of Hayes up to — "and stretching," said a committeeman — the capacity of the hotel dining facilities.

The Escanaba City Council unanimously adopted a resolution at its Thursday evening meeting paying tribute to Hayes, noting that "when he was told about plans for celebrating his birthday, he was reluctant to approve because of his little desire for personal acclaim."

"During the past years, Pat Hayes, by Council appointment has served the citizens of Escanaba as a member of the Board of Review and as a member of the Delta County Board of Supervisors in an able and impartial manner. Through his zeal and dedication, his leadership has assisted in the creation of the Pinecrest Medical Care facility located at Powers," the Council resolution reported.

"Without fanfare, Mr. Hayes gives lavishly to charities and other deserving causes, and is forever helping others when they are sick, aged and troubled. He is a staunch supporter of many community activities which has made Escanaba a better place in which to live and do business."

The Council directed public attention to Hayes' record of proprietorship of the House of Ludington "in such a manner and unusual style that has brought fame and recognition not only to Mr. Hayes but to the City of Escanaba."

"The citizens of Escanaba are appreciative of the opportunity to share in the grandeur and food as furnished by Mr. Hayes, and also to bask in the limelight of his reflected glory."

The Council resolution cited Hayes, "sympathetic understanding of civic needs, his vision and attainments" which "have enriched our community."

In offering congratulations on his birthday anniversary, the Council expressed "heartfelt thanks" for the "inspiration of his example and for the contribution he has made to the health, welfare, and well-being of his fellow citizens and the years of devoted service to civic and philanthropic causes," which "have earned the gratitude of the community."

Jackie To Lose Pension, Cover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's remarriage will end her Secret Service protection and government pension of $10,000 a year, government sources say.

Secret Service protection for her two children, John Jr., 7, and Caroline, 10, will continue, however, until they are 16 unless such protection is declined.

The presidential widow's pension and the Secret Service protection were among various special privileges Congress voted for Mrs. Kennedy after her husband was assassinated in November 1963. Those two privileges were to end with remarriage.

A $50,000 payment for office and staff, later cut to $30,000 was ended July 1, 1967 when she said she didn't need it any more.

A Post Office spokesman said a legal decision probably will be needed to determine whether remarriage will put an end to free mail privileges, also granted by Congress.

Mrs. Kennedy comes from a wealthy family and her husband left a sizeable fortune. Aristotle Onassis, the man she is marrying, is one of the world's richest men.

Mead Sales, Earnings Gain

DAYTON, O. — Increased sales and earnings for the third quarter were reported by Mead Corp. today. Sales were up 11 per cent over last year's third quarter and earnings increased 7-34 per cent.

Howard E. Whitaker, Mead board chairman, announced that sales for the third quarter ended Sept. 29, were $185 million, compared with the $167 million reported for the comparable period in 1967.

"Order backlogs, especially in white papers, are much stronger today than they were a year ago," Whitaker said.

September Tied Record Warmth

September set near-record warmth for the Escanaba area, it is reported by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Not since 1948 has the monthly average temperature for September been higher, with the high of 78 degrees on the 30th equalling the record high for that date set back in 1897.

There were higher temperatures in September (80 degrees on the 12th) but that did not set a daily temperature record.

For the month the temperature averaged 60 degrees, which was 2.6 degrees above normal.

Precipitation for the month totaled 3.65 inches of rainfall, and this was about one-half inch above normal.

First In Lecture Series Features Russian Film

Bay de Noc Community College opened its 1968-69 Fine Arts Lecture Series, with the presentation of the Russian film classic "Ivan the Terrible," a Russian Language film with English subtitles, which depicts the life of one of the most colorful figures in history.

The Lecture Series is planned by the Arts Committee, an organization comprised of students, faculty, and administrators to broaden the students' cultural awareness through the presentation of outstanding films, lectures, and concerts.

The Arts Committee is in the process of bringing to the College the "Ones Group," a psychodrama musical group from Ann Arbor, the Northern Michigan Woodwind Quintet, a concert on the classical guitar by Karl Herroshoff, and a lecture by Dr. Murray Banks, psychologist and humorist on "What to Do Until the Psychiatrist Comes."

"Ivan the Terrible" was shown to students and faculty members in the College Student Center, with Don Miller, instructor in the History Department, introducing the picture.

Mrs. Nina Whitley, a student at the College, offered an analysis of the historical background of the movie. Mrs. Whitley was born in Eastern Europe and educated in Germany until the Hitler regime forced her to move with her family to the province of Volga, which was annexed to Russia at the outset of World War II.

She traced the early history of the Soviet Union noting that Russia "in terms of civilization, was at the back end of Europe." She discussed the religious, political, and economic factors influential in the formation of a unified nation under Ivan IV.

A NEW AUTOMOBILE owned by George Terrian, 22, of 1502 Montana Ave., Gladstone, was slightly "under the weather" today after spending most of the night "under the water" of Little Bay de Noc. State Police said Terrian ran his 1969 sedan off U. S. 2 and 41 about a half mile south of the Gladstone city limits about 2:45 a. m. today. Officers said the car took down seven guard posts and ran into the lake. Terrian told police another vehicle came up behind him on the four lane pavement and ran him off the road. Terrian and a passenger, Henry Drake, 26, Elmira, N. Y., escaped injury, officers said, but they did get wet splashing to shore. The car was pulled from the lake early this morning by a wrecker, allowing Terrian to make a "dry" inspection of damages. (Daily Press Photo)

Cut Memory Lane Trees?

It's Up To State, City Council Says

The State Highway Department has the authority, the jurisdiction and the chain saws necessary to remove the trees along Memory Lane, and the City of Escanaba doesn't have to endorse the cutting of the memorial elms, the City Council decided Thursday night.

Councilman H. George Nelson, member of the council-appointed Safety Committee, pressed the Council for a decision on a recommendation of the Committee that the trees be removed. The Council should not ignore the recommendation, but should act on it one way or another, he said.

"Out On A Limb"

In reporting on the subject, Nelson said that the State Highway Department has $300,000 in "emergency funds" available to improve the stretch of U.S. 2-41 that is the city's westward entrance.

Webster PTA Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Webster PTA was held Monday, Oct. 14 at 8 p. m. with Mrs. David Brostrom presiding. The audience sang, "America the Beautiful," accompanied by Bill VanEffen and Sue Fletcher offered two solos, accompanied by Bill VanEffen.

A short informative film strip, "What's PTA All About," was shown by Mrs. Doris VanEffen who is program chairman.

A report on the Halloween carnival was given by Mrs. Wayne Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Nelson's morning kindergarten won the attendance award. Lunch was served by the fifth grade mothers.

While the State has the authority to remove the trees it is asking that the City Council by resolution concur in the development project, Nelson said. Councilman Robert Bink declared that since the State and not the City has jurisdiction, he saw no reason for Council action and moved to table the amount of energy produced was a record.

Engine Works Well On Apollo 7 Test

The 66-second firing today burned two tons of fuel, reducing the weight of the spaceship from about 29,000 to 25,000 pounds.

High Point 227 Miles

The burst of energy from the 2,500-pound thrust engine temporarily added 1,120 miles an hour to the speed of the vehicle. Had the astronauts fired only their east-west line of flight, they would have shot several thousand miles into space.

To prevent this, Schirra pointed the craft directly south and fired the engine out-of-plane—at right angles to the normal flight path. A great amount of energy is required to shift from one plane to another in space, so the resulting change in orbital path was minimal.

The high point of the orbital path was raised from 174 to about 277 miles. The low point of 103 miles was raised less than a mile.

The spaceship wound up about 70 miles south of its original path. Schirra then turned it back to its line of flight and Apollo 7 assumed its normal orbital speed of about 17,500 miles an hour. The increase in speed imparted by the engine had been absorbed by the out-of-plane maneuver.

Schirra was in a good mood when he awakened today and, referring to Apollo 7's four live telecasts earlier this week, said he'd like "to try for an Emmy for the best TV series."

Astronaut William Pogue, capsule communicator on the ground, replied: "You mean a hammy?"

The television show was canceled today because of a busy schedule.

Hoholik, Smith Joining Operation Action Heads

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Two new cochairmen were named Thursday for Operation Action — U. P. (Upper Peninsula). They are Dr. Raymond L. Smith of Michigan Technological University and Frank S. Hoholik, president of Manistique Pulp and Paper Co.

Operation Action — U. P. is a group which plans steps aimed at bettering the economy of the Upper Peninsula. It was formed in 1962.

Smith and Hoholik will join cochairmen Dr. Edgar L. Harden, past president of Northern Michigan University, and Walker L. Cisler, chairman of Detroit Edison Co.

The group met Thursday at Lake Superior State College with members of the Kinchloe Air Force Base Closure Committee to discuss future uses of air base facilities at Kinchloe.

Constantinos Doxiadis, a widely known city planning expert, was to be the featured speaker this afternoon at a gathering of delegates of Operation Action-U.P. here.

Doxiadis was to present a report on the potential of the Kinchloe Air Force Base 29 miles south of here, which will become a civilian facility in October, 1970, for private use development.

Operation Action was organized under the leadership of Cisler and Dr. Harden when the latter was president of Northern Michigan University at Marquette to bolster the economy of the Upper Peninsula. It has worked in the field of private enterprise and has been successful in attracting to its membership in promotional and development work many of the leaders of industry, commerce and education in Michigan.

Another development agency, the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress, organized by the county boards of supervisors of the U.P., has worked mostly in the field of government activity to stimulate the economy. The two agencies have discussed closer collaboration recently.

Both Hoholik and Dr. Smith are outstanding leaders in economic development. Hoholik is president of Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., a new non-profit corporation organized by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission to develop the stability and profitability of wood industry in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Smith, as head of Tech, has encouraged its services to the economy of the state and especially the Upper Peninsula.

halt in the bombing, and the allies fighting in Vietnam should agree unanimously on any change in war policies.

It is argued here that the North Vietnamese already have de-escalated the conflict over the last several weeks. A number of Communist military units are reported to have been withdrawn from South Vietnam, either back into North Vietnam or into neighboring Laos and Cambodia. The level of fighting has declined. These actions have been taken on communist initiative.

What Johnson wants now are practical assurances the Communists will not step up the war again if the bombing is halted.

Recognition Won By Blood Donors

The three-day visit to Delta County of the Red Cross Bloodmobile produced 184 units of blood, 98 short of the quota, it was reported today by Mrs. E. C. Olsen, chairman of the Red Cross blood procurement committee.

Fifty-four units were collected.

celebrated a milestone — two participating residents have each given seven gallons of their blood to any fellow resident who may need it. The words of Churchill in speaking to the RAF come to mind: "Never have so few given so much for so many."

"The people of the community who participate in the blood program do so very faithfully," she observed.

The seven-gallon donors are part of a much larger number of 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1-gallon donors. At this current visit of the 130 individuals who gave blood in Escanaba, 112 signed to give again in December, Mrs. Olsen noted.

The seven-gallon donors are Allen Kidd of 1601 Stephenson Ave., first to achieve the record, and Escanaba Mayor Cecil B. Chase.

Other award winners were: Five gallon—Ted Dart, 1208 N. 18th St.; four-gallon — Lyle Plozman, 516 S. 17th St.; Glenn Rudden, 1219 N. 16th St.; John Schroeder Jr., 1201 Montana, Gladstone; three-gallon—Maurice Buchmiller, 1517 Montana, Gladstone; two-gallon—Allen Gardiner, 606 S. 16th St.; Mrs. Beverly Larson; and Robert L. Young, 1517 Michigan Ave., Gladstone; and several one-gallon donors.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

'A Privilege'

Mayor Cecil B. Chase, refusing to have the City Council adopt a resolution commending him as a seven-gallon blood donor, said:

"It is a privilege. I will continue to be a donor so long as it is possible. The need for blood at our hospital is increasing and Delta County residents receive blood if they are in a hospital anywhere in the United States, paying only the cost of administration."

"I urge more people to sign up as donors and to turn out when the bloodmobile is here in December."

ed in Gladstone, 73 on Wednesday in Escanaba and 57 on Thursday.

"The responsibility of 98 units will remain to be filled at the visit of the bloodmobile in December," she said.

"In the midst of a very low production visit, the Delta County blood program has

It's Up To State, City Council Says

The State Highway Department has the authority, the jurisdiction and the chain saws necessary to remove the trees along Memory Lane, and the City of Escanaba doesn't have to endorse the cutting of the memorial elms, the City Council decided Thursday night.

Councilman H. George Nelson, member of the council-appointed Safety Committee, pressed the Council for a decision on a recommendation of the Committee that the trees be removed. The Council should not ignore the recommendation, but should act on it one way or another, he said.

"Out On A Limb" In reporting on the subject, Nelson said that the State Highway Department has $300,000 in "emergency funds" available to improve the stretch of U.S. 2-41 that is the city's westward entrance.

Webster PTA Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Webster PTA was held Monday, Oct. 14 at 8 p. m. with Mrs. David Brostrom presiding. The audience sang, "America the Beautiful," accompanied by Bill VanEffen and Sue Fletcher offered two solos, accompanied by Bill VanEffen.

A short informative film strip, "What's PTA All About," was shown by Mrs. Doris VanEffen who is program chairman.

A report on the Halloween carnival was given by Mrs. Wayne Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Nelson's morning kindergarten won the attendance award. Lunch was served by the fifth grade mothers.

While the State has the authority to remove the trees it is asking that the City Council by resolution concur in the development project, Nelson said. Councilman Robert Bink declared that since the State and not the City has jurisdiction, he saw no reason for Council action and moved to table the amount of energy produced was a record. The 66-second firing today burned two tons of fuel, reducing the weight of the spacecraft from about 20,000 to 25,000 pounds.

High Point 227 Miles The burst of energy from the 2,500-pound thrust engine temporarily added 1,120 miles an hour to the speed of the vehicle. Had the astronauts fired only their east-west line of flight, they would have shot several thousand miles into space.

To prevent this, Schirra pointed the craft directly south and fired the engine out-of-plane—at right angles to the normal flight path. A great amount of energy is required to shift from one plane to another in space, so the resulting change in orbital path was minimal.

The high point of the orbital path was raised from 174 to about 277 miles. The low point of 103 miles was raised less than a mile.

The spacecraft wound up about 70 miles south of its original path. Schirra then turned it back to its line of flight and Apollo 7 assumed its normal orbital speed of about 17,500 miles an hour. The increase in speed imparted by the engine had been absorbed by the out-of-plane maneuver.

Schirra was in a good mood when he awakened today and, referring to Apollo 7's four live telecasts earlier this week, said he'd like "to try for an Emmy for the best TV series."

Astronaut William Pogue, capsule communicator on the ground, replied: "You mean a hammy?"

The television show was canceled today because of a busy schedule.

Hoholik, Smith Joining Operation Action Heads

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Two new cochairmen were named Thursday for Operation Action — U. P. (Upper Peninsula). They are Dr. Raymond L. Smith of Michigan Technological University and Frank S. Hoholik, president of Manistique Pulp and Paper Co.

Operation Action — U. P. is a group which plans steps aimed at bettering the economy of the Upper Peninsula. It was formed in 1962.

Smith and Hoholik will join cochairmen Dr. Edgar L. Harden, past president of Northern Michigan University, and Walker L. Ciesler, chairman of Detroit Edison Co.

The group met Thursday at Lake Superior State College with members of the Kincheloe Air Force Base Closure Committee to discuss future uses of air base facilities at Kincheloe.

Constantinos Doxiadis, a widely known city planning expert, was to be the featured speaker this afternoon at a gathering of delegates of Operation Action-U.P. here.

Doxiadis was to present a report on the potential of the Kincheloe Air Force Base 29 miles south of here, which will become a civilian facility in October, 1970, for private use development.

Operation Action was organized under the leadership of Ciesler and Dr. Harden when the latter was president of Northern Michigan University at Marquette to bolster the economy of the Upper Peninsula. It has worked in the field of private enterprise and has been successful in attracting to its membership in promotional and development work many of the leaders of industry, commerce and education in Michigan.

Another development agency, the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress, organized by the county boards of supervisors of the U.P., has worked mostly in the field of government activity to stimulate the economy. The two agencies have discussed closer collaboration recently.

Both Hoholik and Dr. Smith are outstanding leaders in economic development. Hoholik is president of Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., a new non-profit corporation organized by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission to develop the stability and profitability of wood industry in Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Smith, as head of Tech, has encouraged its services to the economy of the state and especially the Upper Peninsula.

halt in the bombing, and the allies fighting in Vietnam should agree unanimously on any change in war policies.

It is argued here that the North Vietnamese already have de-escalated the conflict over the last several weeks. A number of Communist military units are reported to have been withdrawn from South Vietnam, either back into North Vietnam or into neighboring Laos and Cambodia. The level of fighting has declined. These actions have been taken on communist initiative.

What Johnson wants now are practical assurances the Communists will not step up the war again if the bombing is halted.

Recognition Won By Blood Donors

The three-day visit to Delta County of the Red Cross Bloodmobile produced 184 units of blood, 98 short of the quota, it was reported today by Mrs. E. C. Olsen, chairman of the Red Cross blood procurement committee.

Fifty-four units were collected.

'A Privilege'

Mayor Cecil B. Chase, refusing to have the City Council adopt a resolution commending him as a seven-gallon blood donor, said:

"It is a privilege. I will continue to be a donor as long as it is possible. The need for blood at our hospital is increasing and Delta County residents receive blood if they are in a hospital anywhere in the United States, paying only the cost of administration."

"I urge more people to sign up as donors and to turn out when the bloodmobile is here in December."

ed in Gladstone, 73 on Wednesday in Escanaba and 57 on Thursday.

"The responsibility of 98 units will remain to be filled at the visit of the bloodmobile in December," she said.

"In the midst of a very low production visit, the Delta County blood program has celebrated a milestone — two participating residents have each given seven gallons of their blood to any fellow resident who may need it. The words of Churchill in speaking to the RAF come to mind: "Never have so few given so much for so many."

"The people of the community who participate in the blood program do so very faithfully," she observed.

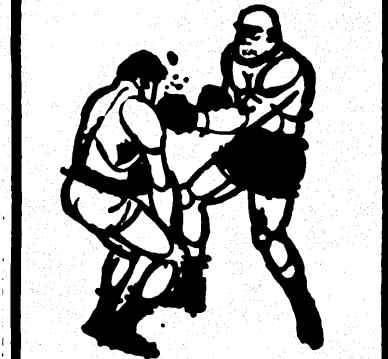

The seven-gallon donors are part of a much larger number of 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1-gallon donors. At this current visit of the 130 individuals who gave blood in Escanaba, 112 signed to give again in December, Mrs. Olsen noted.

The two seven-gallon donors are Allen Kidd of 1601 Stephenson Ave., first to achieve the record, and Escanaba Mayor Cecil B. Chase.

Other award winners were: Five gallon—Ted Dart, 1208 N. 18th St.; four-gallon — Lyle Plowman, 516 S. 17th St.; Glenn Rudden, 1219 N. 16th St.; John Schroeder Jr., 1201 Montana, Gladstone; three-gallon—Maurice Buchmiller, 1517 Montana, Gladstone; two-gallon—Allen Gardiner, 606 S. 16th St.; Mrs. Beverly Larson; and Robert L. Young, 1517 Michigan Ave., Gladstone; and several one-gallon donors.

Last TV Debate?

There is a similarity between that controversial fourth game of the World Series and the presidential election campaign.

The game was played despite intermittent heavy rain. Ordinarily, it would have been postponed, but it wasn't, some sports writers charged, because of the overriding interests of the television industry — specifically, sponsors' money and viewer ratings.

Just as the St. Louis Cardinals, who were leading, accused the Detroit Tigers of stalling in hopes the game would be called before the end of five innings, which would make it an official game, and the Tigers, who were losing, accused the Cards of excessive haste in trying to reach that critical point, so the politicians have traded blows over a question that also involves television.

Hubert Humphrey, the underdog, early began appealing for a series of televised debates with Richard Nixon, accusing the latter of ducking the issues. Republicans countered that Humphrey was seizing on the debates as a means of getting nationwide exposure to inject some hope into a desperate campaign. Third-party candidate George Wallace accused both of the others of being afraid to face him.

Controversy over the fourth game of the series is purely academic now, since Detroit made a sensational recovery from that defeat to win the world championship. Academic, too, is the whole matter of a three-way candidates' debate since the Senate refused to second the House-passed bill authorizing them.

Would Nixon's five o'clock shadow have come back from 1960 to haunt him? Would Humphrey have shown himself to be something more than the talkative incompetent his opponents say he is? Would Wallace have been exposed as a shallow charlatan, or would he have exposed the others? Would, maybe, a little light have been shed on the shadowy issues of this campaign?

Or would none of these things have happened? Would the debates have been just a form of entertainment for an apathetic electorate that already has its mind pretty well made up?

Edmund Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, soundly castigated Senator Everett Dirksen, the Illinois Republican, for decreeing, through the stratagem of a threatened filibuster, that 74 million voters were not to learn the answers to those questions.

In fairness to Dirksen, he had a point when he recalled that it was another Democratic vice presidential candidate, whose initials are HHH, who opposed debates between President Johnson and Barry Goldwater in 1964, when it was the Republican candidate who was the underdog. Politics being politics, it may be that Americans witnessed in 1960 the first and last televised debates between presidential candidates they will ever see. And it may be just as well.

As those debates suggested, and as the fourth game of the World Series of 1968 confirmed, and as political front-runners instinctively know, that magic all-seeing eye called television has an unpredictable way of assuming the role not of recorder of history but maker of it.

Scorched Earth

The debate so far is mostly confined to the columns of publications like Science, the magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, but there is increasing concern among biologists and botanists about the effects of the war in South Vietnam on the inhabitants of that country — not the human inhabitants but the nonhuman.

Years of fighting between the so-called intelligent animals have completely eliminated the once-familiar rhinoceros. On the way to the same fate is the elephant of the highlands, which at one time was frequently used as a pack animal by the Viet Cong but which has shown a notable inability to withstand machine-gunning and bombing from the air.

Smaller animals, too, have become refugees of war. "Many of our animals deer, tigers, elephants, monkeys and wild boar — are leaving the country as fast as the North Vietnamese enter," says a Saigon official.

Even the insects have not been spared. Insects that feed on leaves and grasses quickly die when forests and jungles are stripped by chemical defoliation. In turn, the birds and other animals that feed on insects either die or migrate.

Though the plant life eventually recovers, defoliation of the forests of Vietnam is certain to cause the extinction of many animal populations, Stanford University biologists charge.

"Destruction or disruption of nature in vast areas of the tropics by any means is not, in our opinion, warranted by even the most noble goals of any country," they state in a letter to Science.

According to U. S. officials, about 3,500 square miles, or more than five per cent of South Vietnam's total area, has been defoliated. The program is termed a "complete success" that has saved many allied lives. A spokesman for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, however, observes that it may take 20 years for some forest areas to recover.

BARBS By PHIL PASTORET

They call the plant chief "foreman" because it would take that many men to do his job.

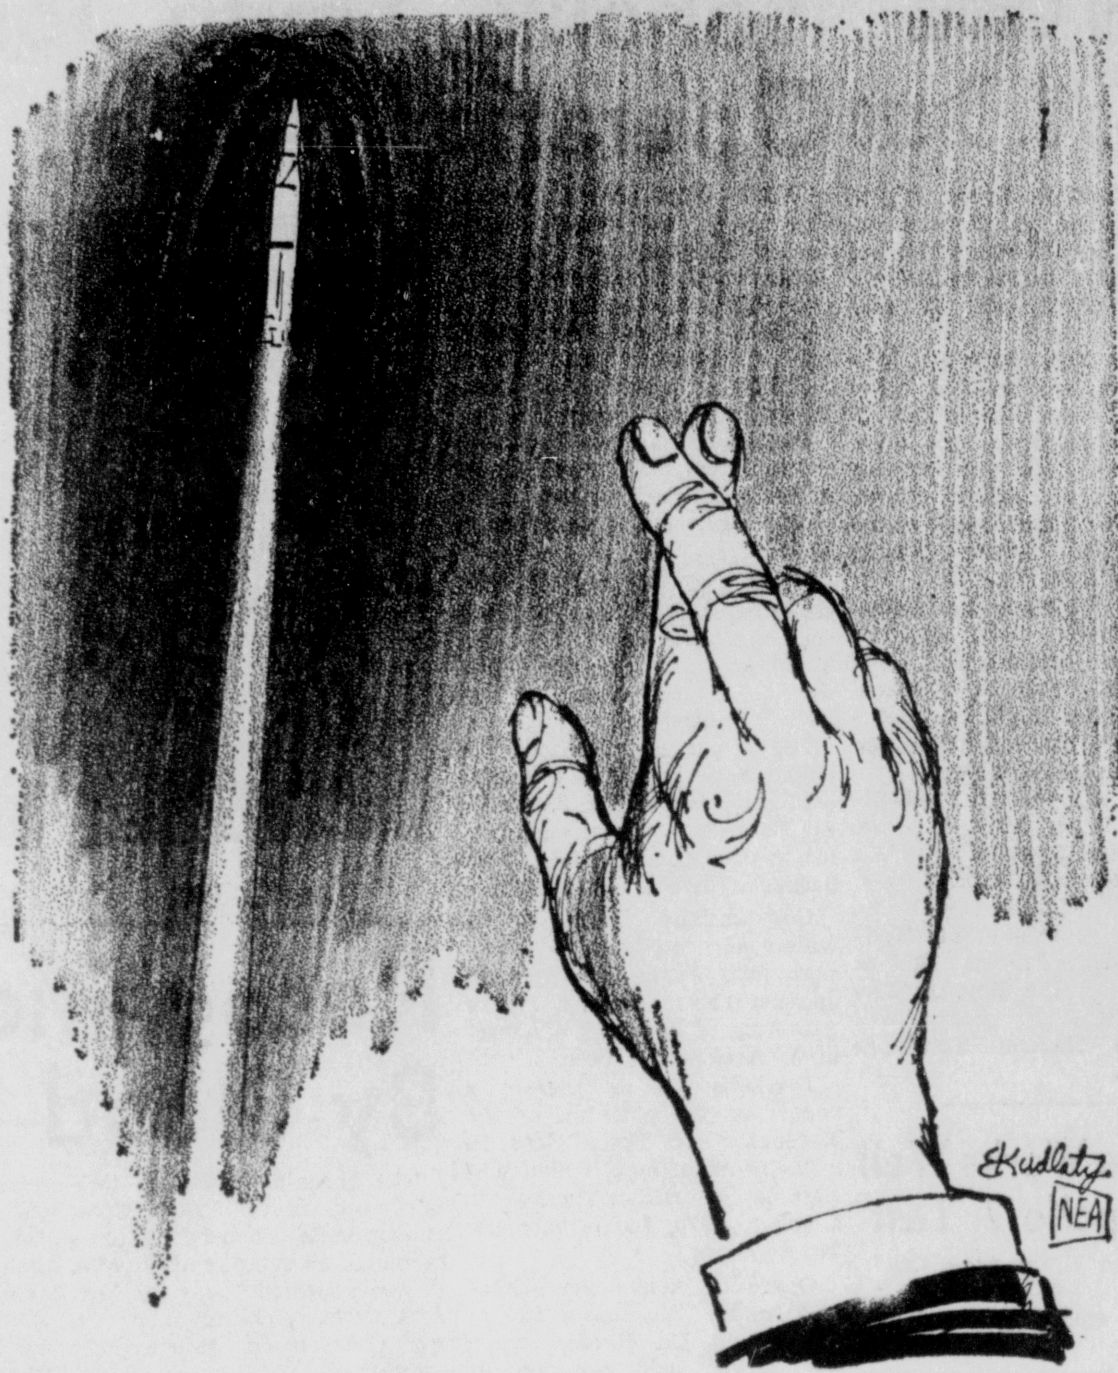

The difference between an error of judgment and a plain, garden-variety error is in who makes it.

The boss didn't come right out and accuse us of loafing — he just said we worked 40 hours weakly.

The fellow who boasts of lots of pull should make certain he's not running out of rope to haul on.

At one time there were 80,000 street cars in operation in the United States, and if you ask "What's a street car?" you'll make grandpa feel his age.

Misjudged Czechs' Urge For Freedom

By LEON DENNEN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(NEA)—Each day brings new evidence that Czechoslovakia's passive resistance to the Russian invasion has already had a deadlier effect on Communist morale than the short-lived armed uprising of the Hungarians in 1956.

The Hungarian revolt was soon eclipsed by Moscow's propaganda for "peaceful co-existence." But Czechoslovakia is a continuing disaster that will plague the Kremlin rulers for a long time.

Deluded by their own Marxist-Leninist gibberish, they completely misjudged and underestimated the Czechoslovak's urge for freedom and the reluctance of "fraternal" Communist parties to submit again to Moscow's domination.

Of the world's 74 nonruling Communist parties, only 14 supported Russia's invasion. Even Louis Aragon, the leading Marxist-Leninist intellectual of France, compared the invasion to the "rape of Czechoslovakia by Hitler's Nazi hordes."

Ironically, it was Mikhail Suslov, the Kremlin's top ideologist, who warned his colleagues in the Soviet Politburo against armed intervention. According to a Czechoslovak diplomat, Suslov told the Warsaw Pact summit that met in Bratislava shortly before Soviet parachutists descended on Prague:

"We must accept the Czechoslovak reforms because sooner or later we, in the Soviet Union, will face the same thing."

Suslov, Premier Aleksei Kosygin and other realistic politicians in the Politburo were voted down by Leonid Brezhnev, head of the Russian Communist party, Aleksander Shelepin, former chief of the secret police, and their henchmen who were backed by many of the Red army's marshals and generals.

But the acrimonious debate is still going on in the Kremlin and so does the struggle for power.

The dull and unimaginative Brezhnev actually believed his own propaganda that the Russians would be welcomed in Czechoslovakia. On the eve of the invasion each Soviet soldier was given a tract explaining his mission.

"Soviet soldiers," it said, "you are going to fraternal Czechoslovakia to perform your duty as an internationalist."

"The present situation in Czechoslovakia is such that counterrevolutionary forces, operating openly under the mask of 'democratization' and 'liberalization' of the existing order, are taking the country toward the restoration of capitalism."

Louis Mueller has been elected executive committeeman of Chapter 26 of the DAV of Michigan, according to a letter from Wilfred Hocking, State Department Commander and John E. Feighner, acting department adjutant.

Dr. George A. Shaw, Manistique physician and prominent in Masonry here, was honored at Grand Rapids Thursday by his installation as Worthy Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter, State of Michigan Order of the Eastern Star.

Fire of an unknown origin destroyed a crop filled barn at the farm of Henry Tesch, near Schaffer. When the fire was discovered the entire upper portion of the structure was in flames and little could be saved.

The edict of the Escanaba health board closing all phases of public gathering in this city, may result in the indefinite postponement of the October term of circuit court. Judge Flannigan made it known that should any juror or witness called to appear in court here, ask to be excused because of fear of contracting influenza, he would favor the granting of the excuse.

LITTER

After working in sanitation and public health for 20 years, as I drive around the country I am always taking special notice of the litter and other objectionable items that we see strewn along our highways and by-ways.

It may be that I am working so close with problems such as this that I notice it more than the average person. There is nothing more appalling than to drive out into the country—and especially at this time of the year when the land and trees are beautiful as we see here in the Upper Peninsula—to run across someone's garbage or refuse.

When the H. C. Price Co. was installing their pipe line across Schoolcraft County I kept a jaundiced eye on the litter and rubbish that was accumulating along their right-of-way. I made no comment on this and I am very happy that I did not.

H. C. Price Co. employees went over their right of way with a fine tooth comb. I have never seen an area that started out to be a long line of refuse restored to its original status as this company has restored their right-of-way.

I have to take my hat off to this company and their employees for an excellent job well done. I have a feeling that they took more pride in cleaning up their right of way than some of the citizens of Michigan take in maintaining their own state. When I think of the hours and money spent in cleaning the many miles and restoring the ground to its original condition (of course less the trees) I feel these people must take a great amount of pride in their work.

My only concern is—will this long strip of land, now that it is available for vehicle travel, remain in the condition that H. C. Price left it? As of this last weekend I have already found beer bottles, empty beer cartons, one whiskey bottle and one wine bottle that was deposited on this right of way by our so-called "sportsmen."

Let's take a lesson from this company and try to retain our own beautiful Upper Peninsula in the state in which it should be.

Practical Nurse Has Frisky Patient

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has been in and out of a mental hospital for the last four years. He has tried to commit suicide five times. He has also tried to kill me.

Our youngest daughter is 20. She continually berates me for "not letting Papa come home." She insists I am putting him in his grave by keeping him locked up away from his family. She keeps telling me it is my fault because Papa is sick—that I nagged him into insanity. When she talks this way I get so depressed I can't eat or sleep.

My two older daughters understand. This girl does not. I have asked her to speak to the doctors but she refuses. What can I do?—BUFFALO

Dear Buff: You can ask the doctor to write a short letter to your 20-year-old daughter explaining the necessity of keeping her father hospitalized. It is not her love for her father but her hostility toward you that makes her behave this way. When you understand this you will no longer permit her to make you feel guilty, which is, of course, her prime motivation.

Dear Ann Landers: What does a woman do after 20 years of marriage when her 43-year-old husband comes to her and asks for a divorce? I am 39 and have four wonderful children. I love my husband and was shocked when he told me he has fallen out of love and wants to be free so he can recapture that old feeling.

I suggested counseling and he said it would be useless. He wants out. I feel lost and frightened. Two of our children are quite young and I'm afraid I cannot raise them alone. I am panic stricken and bewildered and can't figure out what happened. What should I do?—ST. LOUIS

Dear S. L.: It sounds as if your husband has already "recaptured that old feeling"—with somebody else. Tell him he is free to move out, but no divorce.

After 20 years of marriage and four children, a man has no right to flake off just because he's found a little more excitement elsewhere. He has an obligation to stick with his family—and make the best of whatever feeling there is.

Sometimes these lover boys get their fill of fooling around when the glamor of stolen moments and secret rendezvous has worn off. They miss their kids and regain their sanity and go back home where they belong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a practical nurse (age 31) and am working on a case which has been driving me nuts. The patient is a man 58 who was injured in an industrial accident.

He was quite ill and severely incapacitated when I took on the case four months ago, but in the past three weeks he seems fully recovered. In fact, he's too darned frisky for his own good. If my husband knew how this "cripple" chases me around the house he'd make me quit this job.

The insurance company is paying for the patient's care, which means he's in no hurry to go back to his job. In the meantime, I am worn out. He has given me four raises and the money looks awfully good. What should I do?—J. L.

Dear J. L.: Any guy who is well enough to chase the nurse is well enough to go to work. Tell him you're leaving next week. NO money is THAT good.

Give in or lose him. When a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Last TV Debate?

There is a similarity between that controversial fourth game of the World Series and the presidential election campaign.

The game was played despite intermittent heavy rain. Ordinarily, it would have been postponed, but it wasn't, some sports writers charged, because of the overriding interests of the television industry — specifically, sponsors' money and viewer ratings.

Just as the St. Louis Cardinals, who were leading, accused the Detroit Tigers of stalling in hopes the game would be called before the end of five innings, which would make it an official game, and the Tigers, who were losing, accused the Cards of excessive haste in trying to reach that critical point, so the politicians have traded blows over a question that also involves television.

Hubert Humphrey, the underdog, early began appealing for a series of televised debates with Richard Nixon, accusing the latter of ducking the issues. Republicans countered that Humphrey was seizing on the debates as a means of getting nationwide exposure to inject some hope into a desperate campaign. Third-party candidate George Wallace accused both of the others of being afraid to face him.

Controversy over the fourth game of the series is purely academic now, since Detroit made a sensational recovery from that defeat to win the world championship. Academic, too, is the whole matter of a three-way candidates' debate since the Senate refused to second the House-passed bill authorizing them.

Would Nixon's five o'clock shadow have come back from 1960 to haunt him? Would Humphrey have shown himself to be something more than the talkative incompetent his opponents say he is? Would Wallace have been exposed as a shallow charlatan, or would he have exposed the others? Would, mayhap, a little light have been shed on the shadowy issues of this campaign?

Or would none of these things have happened? Would the debates have been just a form of entertainment for an apathetic electorate that already has its mind pretty well made up? Edmund Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, soundly castigated Senator Everett Dirksen, the Illinois Republican, for decreeing, through the stratagem of a threatened filibuster, that 74 million voters were not to learn the answers to those questions.

In fairness to Dirksen, he had a point when he recalled that it was another Democratic vice presidential candidate, whose initials are HHH, who opposed debates between President Johnson and Barry Goldwater in 1964, when it was the Republican candidate who was the underdog.

Politics being politics, it may be that Americans witnessed in 1960 the first and last televised debates between presidential candidates they will ever see. And it may be just as well.

As those debates suggested, and as the fourth game of the World Series of 1968 confirmed, and as political front-runners instinctively know, that magic all-seeing eye called television has an unpredictable way of assuming the role not of recorder of history but maker of it.

Scorched Earth

The debate so far is mostly confined to the columns of publications like Science, the magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, but there is increasing concern among biologists and botanists about the effects of the war in South Vietnam on the inhabitants of that country — not the human inhabitants but the nonhuman.

Years of fighting between the so-called intelligent animals have completely eliminated the once-familiar rhinoceros. On the way to the same fate is the elephant of the highlands, which at one time was frequently used as a pack animal by the Viet Cong but which has shown a notable inability to withstand machine-gunning and bombing from the air.

Smaller animals, too, have become refugees of war. "Many of our animals, deer, tigers, elephants, monkeys and wild boar — are leaving the country as fast as the North Vietnamese enter," says a Saigon official.

Even the insects have not been spared. Insects that feed on leaves and grasses quickly die when forests and jungles are stripped by chemical defoliation. In turn, the birds and other animals that feed on insects either die or migrate.

Though the plant life eventually recovers, defoliation of the forests of Vietnam is certain to cause the extinction of many animal populations, Stanford University biologists charge.

"Destruction or disruption of nature in vast areas of the tropics by any means is not, in our opinion, warranted by even the most noble goals of any country," they state in a letter to Science.

According to U. S. officials, about 3,500 square miles, or more than five per cent of South Vietnam's total area, has been defoliated. The program is termed a "complete success" that has saved many allied lives. A spokesman for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, however, observes that it may take 20 years for some forest areas to recover.

They call the plant chief "foreman" because it would take that many men to do his job.

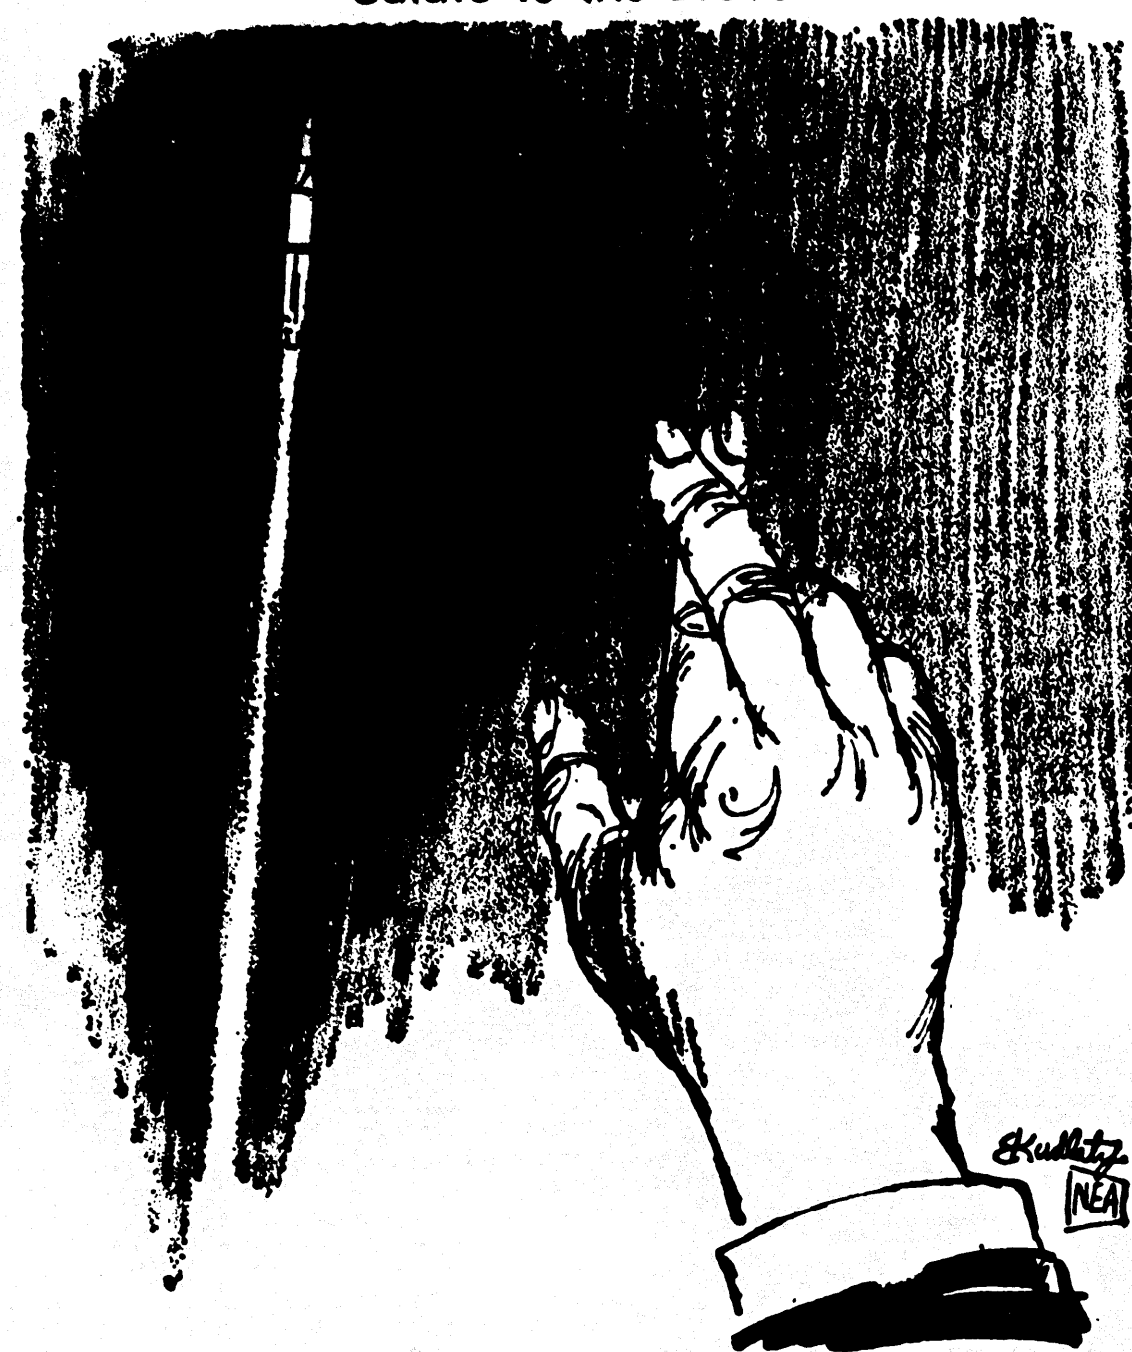

The difference between an error of judgment and a plain, garden-variety error is in who makes it.

Misjudged Czechs Urge For Freedom

By LEON DENNEN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(NEA)—Each day brings new evidence that Czechoslovakia's passive resistance to the Russian invasion has already had a deadlier effect on Communist morale than the short-lived armed uprising of the Hungarians in 1956.

The Hungarian revolt was soon eclipsed by Moscow's propaganda for "peaceful co-existence." But Czechoslovakia is a continuing disaster that will plague the Kremlin rulers for a long time.

Deluded by their own Marxist-Leninist gibberish, they completely misjudged and underestimated the Czechoslovakian urge for freedom and the reluctance of "fraternal" Communist parties to submit again to Moscow's domination.

Of the world's 74 nonruled Communist parties, only 14 supported Russia's invasion. Even Louis Aragon, the leading Marxist-Leninist intellectual of France, compared the invasion to the "rape of Czechoslovakia" by Hitler's Nazi hordes.

Ironically, it was Mikhail Suslov, the Kremlin's top ideologist, who warned his colleagues in the Soviet Politburo against armed intervention. According to a Czechoslovakia diplomat, Suslov told the Warsaw Pact summit that met in Bratislava shortly before Soviet paratroopers descended on Prague:

"We must accept the Czechoslovak reforms because sooner or later we, in the Soviet Union, will face the same thing."

Suslov, Premier Aleksei Kosygin, and other realistic politicians in the Politburo were voted down by Leonid Brezhnev, head of the Russian Communist party, Alexander Shelepin, former chief of the secret police, and their henchmen who were backed by many of the Red army's marshals and generals.

But the scintillating debate is still going on in the Kremlin and so does the struggle for power.

The dull and unimaginative Brezhnev actually believed his own propaganda that the Russians would be welcomed in Czechoslovakia. On the eve of the invasion each Soviet soldier was given a tract explaining his mission.

"Soviet soldiers," it said, "you are going to fraternal Czechoslovakia to perform your duty as an internationalist."

"The present situation in Czechoslovakia is such that counterrevolutionary forces, operating openly under the mask of 'democratization' and 'liberalization' of the existing order, are taking the country toward the restoration of capitalism."

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the Files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 Years Ago

Louis Mueller has been elected executive committeeman of Chapter 26 of the DAV of Michigan, according to a letter from Wilfred Hocking, State Department Commander and John E. Feighner, acting department adjutant.

Dr. George A. Shaw, Manistique physician and prominent in Masonry here, was honored at Grand Rapids Thursday by his installation as Worthy Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter, State of Michigan Order of the Eastern Star.

30 Years Ago

Fire of an unknown origin destroyed a crop filled barn at the farm of Henry Tesch, near Schaffers. When the fire was discovered the entire upper portion of the structure was in flames and little could be saved.

The edict of the Escanaba health board closing all phases of public gathering in this city, may result in the indefinite postponement of the October term of circuit court. Judge Flannigan made it known that should any juror or witness called to appear in court here, ask to be excused because of fear of contracting influenza, he would favor the granting of the excuse.

The Professor was holding forth to a rapt audience of students. His subject was the 4-3 trump fit. One pupil had just complained that he could never get to first base when he held only four trumps opposite three in dummy unless all the high trumps were among his seven.

The Professor said, "The first step in playing a 4-3 trump fit is to refuse to panic. You have seven trumps in the combined hands. Look around to see how many of them you can make. You will be surprised to find out that you will fulfill some hopeless-looking part-score contracts."

"Take this hand. West got off to a most annoying lead. I had to ruff his ace of hearts and was down to three trumps. That left the defense with as many trumps as I held but still

I only needed seven more tricks. It seemed silly to try to guess the location of the queen of clubs when I had such a nice diamond suit to work with, so I led a club to dummy's king, returned a diamond and finessed the jack. West took his king and could find nothing more appealing than a second heart lead. I ruffed and was down to two trumps but I had three tricks in.

"Two diamond leads gave me five tricks. I discarded dummy's four of clubs on the third diamond. The ace of clubs was my sixth trick and a club ruff in dummy counted seven. It was a simple matter to ruff another heart for my eighth trick and I still had my ace of trumps for a ninth."

"Weren't you a trifle lucky?" asked the senior pupil.

"Not at all," replied the Professor. "I did find two aces breaking 3-3 for me but I lost the diamond finesse."

LITTER

After working in sanitation and public health for 20 years, as I drive around the country I am always taking special notice of the litter and other objectionable items that we see strewn along our highways and by-ways.

It may be that I am working so close with problems such as this that I notice it more than the average person. There is nothing more appalling than to drive out into the country—and especially at this time of the year when the land and trees are beautiful as we see here in the Upper Peninsula—to run across someone's garbage or refuse.

When the H. C. Price Co. was installing their pipe line across Schoolcraft County I kept a jaundiced eye on the litter and rubbish that was accumulating along their right-of-way. I made no comment on this and I am very happy that I did not.

H. C. Price Co. employees went over their right of way with a fine tooth comb. I have never seen an area that started out to be a long line of refuse restored to its original status as this company has restored their right-of-way.

I have to take my hat off to this company and their employees for an excellent job well done. I have a feeling that they took more pride in cleaning up their right of way than some of the citizens of Michigan take in maintaining their own state. When I think of the hours and money spent in cleaning the many miles and restoring the ground to its original condition (of course less the trees) I feel these people must take a great amount of pride in their work.

My only concern is—will this long strip of land, now that it is available for vehicle travel, remain in the condition that H. C. Price left it? As of this last weekend I have already found beer bottles, empty beer cans, one whiskey bottle and one wine bottle that was deposited on this right of way by our so-called "sportsmen."

Let's take a lesson from this company and try to retain our own beautiful Upper Peninsula in the state in which it should be.

Ann Landers

Practical Nurse Has Frisky Patient

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has been in and out of a mental hospital for the last four years. He has tried to commit suicide five times. He has also tried to kill me.

Our youngest daughter is 20. She continually berates me for "not letting Papa come home." She insists I am putting him in his grave by keeping him locked up away from his family. She keeps telling me it is my fault because Papa is sick—that I nagged him into insanity. When she talks this way I get so depressed I can't eat or sleep.

My two older daughters understand. This girl does not. I have asked her to speak to the doctors but she refuses. What can I do?—BUFFALO

Dear Buff: You can ask the doctor to write a short letter to your 20-year-old daughter explaining the necessity of keeping her father hospitalized. It is not her love for her father but her hostility toward you that makes her behave this way. When you understand this you will no longer permit her to make you feel guilty, which is, of course, her prime motivation.

Dear Ann Landers: What does a woman do after 20 years of marriage when her 43-year-old husband comes to her and asks for a divorce? I am 39 and have four wonderful children. I love my husband and was shocked when he told me he has fallen out of love and wants to be free so he can recapture that old feeling.

I suggested counseling and he said it would be useless. He wants out. I feel lost and frightened. Two of our children are quite young and I'm afraid I can't raise them alone. I am panic stricken and bewildered and can't figure out what happened. What should I do?—ST. LOUIS

Dear S. L.: It sounds as if your husband has already "recaptured that old feeling"—with somebody else. Tell him he is free to move out, but no divorce.

After 20 years of marriage and four children, a man has no right to flake off just because he's found a little more excitement elsewhere. He has an obligation to stick with his family—and make the best of whatever feeling there is.

Sometimes these lever boys get their fill of fooling around when the glamor of stolen moments and secret rendezvous has worn off. They miss their kids and regain their sanity and go back home where they belong.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a practical nurse (age 31) and am working on a case which has been driving me nuts. The patient is a man 58 who was injured in an industrial accident.

He was quite ill and severely incapacitated when I took on the case four months ago, but in the past three weeks he seems fully recovered. In fact, he's too darned frisky for his own good. If my husband knew how this "cripple" chases me around the house he'd make me quit this job.

The insurance company is paying for the patient's care, which means he's in no hurry to go back to his job. In the meantime, I am worn out. He has given me four raises and the money looks awfully good. What should I do?—J. L.

Dear J. L.: Any guy who is well enough to chase the nurse is well enough to go to work. Tell him you're leaving next week. NO money is THAT good.

Give in or lose him when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Hormones Increase The Baby Potential

NEW YORK (AP) — Through the potent power of hormones, modern women are winning greater ability to say yes or no to the prospect of having babies.

On the "no" side, there is The Pill for birth control. The pill—some 10 brands are available—succeeds because it contains certain hormones that prevent ovulation, the monthly release of an ovum or egg that could become fertilized to start new life.

But on the "yes" side, for some barren women, there are hormonal preparations that are bringing true their dream of at last having a child. These chemicals stimulate the release of an ovum.

Supplies Stimulus

Sometimes these drugs over-succeed, by stimulating the release of numerous eggs. Such was the case with the sextuplets born last week in Birmingham, England, to Mrs. Sheila Ann Thorns.

Hormones, produced in minute amounts by numerous internal glands, are powerful controllers of life processes. Adrenalin, for example, supplies stimulus to function in emergencies. And hormones are also vital in the complicated processes of human conception and birth.

A beginning in all this process is ovulation, the cyclical release of a mature ovum or egg from the storehouse of some 100,000 ova contained in the two ovaries of a female child at her own birth.

This maturation and release of a monthly egg is controlled by a hormone, gonadotrophin, produced by the pituitary gland at the base of the brain.

Gonadotrophin is a mixture of hormones. One important one is FSH, the follicle stimulating hormone, and another is luteinizing hormone. Both are essential for production of an egg that could meet with a male sperm to begin new life.

Fertility Drugs

Acting on this knowledge of basic physiology, scientists in the last decade have produced two fertility drugs. One is gonadotrophin obtained and purified from human sources. Another is a hormonal-like drug, clomiphene citrate, that acts through the central nervous system to jog the pituitary gland to produce more gonadotrophin.

Both have assisted childless women in having babies. Up to 15 per cent of women may be childless because they fail to ovulate normally, Dr. Richard U. Hausknecht of Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City estimates.

Specialists in clinics around the world are engaged in careful studies to learn how to apply this normal action in aid of childless women.

Contents Vary

The batches of gonadotrophin, some obtained from the urine of women past menopause or child-bearing age, vary in their potency or content of the two principal hormones, Dr. Hausknecht explains. Even childless women may be producing some gonadotrophin hormone on their own. An additional amount may bring about ovulation of more than one egg.

When that happens, as with Mrs. Thorns in England, mothers can be in for surprises. Problems of how to specify the exact dosage of a hormonal drug for individual women are still being worked out.

MRS. JOHN KEVEK of Kenosha has received her Master's degree in education from the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee. Mrs. Kevek is the former Joann Urbanc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Urbanc of Bark River.

Julie Nixon, D. Eisenhower Set Wedding Date

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Julie Nixon says she and David Eisenhower have set their wedding date. But they're keeping it a secret.

"I hope the wedding won't be turned into a TV spectacular," says David.

And while they were discussing their wedding plans, Julie's older sister, Tricia, was expressing her views on what she wants in a husband.

He must be "kind, sincere, honest and interested in other people—but he doesn't have to be interested in politics," Tricia, 22, told reporters Tuesday in Newark, N.J.

Tricia, like Julie and David, both 20, has been campaigning for her father, Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee.

Sometimes, she said, she brings Democrats home for dinner but, "Daddy doesn't mind. We try to convert them."

She said despite what "the gossip columns say, I don't have any special friends, but a number of friends."

Julie's and David's remarks about the forthcoming marriage were made at a news conference held after they flew here from New York. They said Fred Grandy, a friend, will be best man and Tricia the maid of honor.

Young Eisenhower, grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said, regarding television coverage of the wedding:

"I tried to watch the Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox play baseball on television the afternoon Lucie Johnson was married but I couldn't because the networks were saturated with pieces about her gown and so on."

Jackie's Marriage May Change Her Image

NEW YORK (AP) — In those rare times when America creates its own royalty, it lavishes upon the chosen few all the fierce, jealous affection that practical people render unto dreams.

For this adulation, Americans exact obedience. The rules are few but firm, and paramount is the preservation, at all costs, of the public image we know and love.

Jacqueline Kennedy's reign has flourished for nearly eight years. It began early in her White House life when she brought a rare youth, charm and beauty to the highest seat of government. It gained stature when she met shattering tragedy with a dignity and restraint that moved millions to compassionate, admiring tears. Her lonely widowhood, circumscribed as it is by the careful rearing of her two fatherless children—Caroline, now 10, and John Jr., 7—and the perpetuating of her assassinated husband's memory, is in the tradition of the great dowager queens.

Most Admired

Today at 39 she is perhaps the most admired woman in the world. With her forthcoming marriage to 62-year-old Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipping magnate, jet set playboy and one of the richest men in the world, her image in America, as well as her status, might change.

As the news of the approaching wedding broke, some of Mrs. Kennedy's closest friends, reached by telephone, expressed hope the marriage would be a happy one.

William Walton the painter, an old friend of both Jack and Jackie Kennedy, put it this way: "One wishes her great happiness. She deserves it and I hope she finds it."

Several suggested that the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, her brother-in-law, was a key factor. "Jackie depended on him completely," said one. "Since he died she has been very lonely."

Another agreed: "She's certainly lonelier now than before Bobby died. He was a sort of an Irish uncle, you know; something she and the children could lean on."

Mrs. Kennedy always has seemed to like—even prefer—the company of mature men, and armchair psychologists might attribute it to her deep attachment to her father, the dashing Jack Bouvier, sportsman and stockbroker, whom her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, divorced when Jacqueline was 10.

Engagement Denied

Two years ago a report of her impending engagement to Spanish diplomat Antonio Garrigues Y Diaz Canabate, 62, was denied by both the U.S. Embassy in Madrid and by Mrs. Auchincloss.

The most persistent romantic rumors concerned Lord Harlech, former British ambassador to the United States and a close friend to both the late President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Lord Harlech, 50, accompanied Mrs. Kennedy on her 1967 trip to Cambodia. Romance was emphatically denied each time the rumors cropped up. Mrs. Kennedy and Lord Harlech, widower and father of five grown children, have stayed just good friends.

City Called To Water Hearing

Proposals for the specific water uses to be protected within the Upper Peninsula drainage basins by Michigan's standards of quality for inland lakes and streams will be presented at a public hearing by the State Water Resources Commission when it meets in Marquette Oct. 23-24. The hearing will be held Oct. 23 in the Holiday Inn, at 1:30 p.m. announces Loring F. Oeming, executive secretary of the Commission.

Looking to the implementation of Michigan's interstate water quality standards as well as the recommendations of the federal enforcement conference on Lake Michigan pollution, the commission has scheduled conferences with the Village of Baraga and the City of Gladstone on Oct. 23 and with the Cities of Iron Mountain-Kingsford (Dickinson County), the City of Sault Ste. Marie (Chippewa County) and the City of Mackinac Island Edison Sault Electric Co. and the Mackinac Island Park Commission on Oct. 24. In each case the municipalities will be asked to show why the commission should not initiate statutory procedures to require secondary waste treatment and phosphate removal by specified dates.

In accordance with the commission's plan for implementing and enforcing the water quality standards, a municipality may be exempted from providing secondary treatment of wastes only if it can demonstrate that a lesser degree of treatment will provide for water quality enhancement commensurate with present and proposed future water uses. Any such exemption must be justified to the satisfaction of the commission and the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

City Called To Water Hearing

Proposals for the specific water uses to be protected within the Upper Peninsula drainage basins by Michigan's standards of quality for inland lakes and streams will be presented at a public hearing by the State Water Resources Commission when it meets in Marquette Oct. 23-24. The hearing will be held Oct. 23 in the Holiday Inn, at 1:30 p.m. announces Loring F. Oeming, executive secretary of the Commission.

Looking to the implementation of Michigan's interstate water quality standards as well as the recommendations of the federal enforcement conference on Lake Michigan pollution, the commission has scheduled conferences with the Village of Baraga and the City of Gladstone on Oct. 23 and with the Cities of Iron Mountain-Kingsford (Dickinson County), the City of Sault Ste. Marie (Chippewa County) and the City of Mackinac Island Edison Sault Electric Co. and the Mackinac Island Park Commission on Oct. 24. In each case the municipalities will be asked to show why the commission should not initiate statutory procedures to require secondary waste treatment and phosphate removal by specified dates.

In accordance with the commission's plan for implementing and enforcing the water quality standards, a municipality may be exempted from providing secondary treatment of wastes only if it can demonstrate that a lesser degree of treatment will provide for water quality enhancement commensurate with present and proposed future water uses. Any such exemption must be justified to the satisfaction of the commission and the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Gains Are Small In Dull Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market clung to a small gain in dull trading early today as Wall Street hoped for confirmation of rumors that triggered a boisterous "peace rally" Thursday.

Gains outnumbered losses by 100 issues or so on the New York Stock Exchange but the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead by less than a point.

Wall Streeters, however, remained convinced that something was afoot regarding a Vietnam bombing pause, even though no concrete developments appeared.

IBM picked up 4 points. Atlantic Richfield sank more than 2.

The arrests were made by officers of Scotland Yard's drug squad.

FOUR SUPREME COURT APPOINTMENTS could fall the way of the next president. Chief Justice Earl Warren, 77, has said he was eager to return to private life after a half-century of public service, and although none has indicated publicly any retirement plans, three other justices, because of age or physical impairment, may leave the court during the next administration. Outlined, from the left, are Justices John M. Harlan, 69; Hugo L. Black, 82; Warren and William O. Douglas, 69. Harlan, appointed to the high court in 1955, has bad vision; he needs three law clerks to read to him. Black, appointed in 1937, is the dean of sitting justices. Douglas, on the Court since 1939, has suffered serious heart trouble and now uses an electrical "Pacemaker" device to keep his heartbeat regular. Other members of the Court are William J. Brennan, seated right, and standing from the left, Justices Abe Fortas, Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall.

Family Party Flies To Greece For Nuptials

daughter, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, is planning to marry Mr. Aristotle Onassis.

A few hours after the announcement, Mrs. Kennedy, her two children, Caroline, 10, and John Jr., 7, and a party of eight bumped 90 passengers from an Olympic Airways jetliner and took off from New York's Kennedy Airport for Greece. Onassis owns the airline.

The party included Mrs. Auchincloss and her husband; two of President Kennedy's sisters—Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford; Mrs. Lawford's daughter; a Secret Service agent, and two maids.

A spokesman for the airline said the plane's 90 passengers were put on a plane that left three hours later.

Onassis' sister, Mrs. D. Garofalidou, told newsmen in Athens the wedding would take place on Scorpios, the shipping magnate's private island in the Ionian Sea next week. Onassis bought the small isle six years ago and has kept it ultraprivate.

Extends Wishes

In Washington, a spokesman for Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, said the Massachusetts senator was told of the impending wedding several days ago.

"He extended his very best wishes to both for their happiness," said the spokesman.

Born in New York, educated in the United States and Europe, fluent in French, Spanish and Italian, Jacqueline Lee Bouvier married Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts on Sept. 12, 1953.

After he became the nation's 35th president on Jan. 1, 1961, his wife was hailed as one of the most beautiful, charming and best dressed first ladies in the world.

Mrs. Kennedy and her children were guests of Onassis aboard his palatial yacht Christina in the Caribbean during the spring. After Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination, she and Sen. Edward Kennedy cruised with Onassis aboard the Christina in the Mediterranean.

The stocky, dapper "Ari," with a fortune estimated as high as $500 million, was the hero of another headline romance, with opera singer Maria Callas, which began aboard the Christina. In 1959 he took her and her husband cruising in the Mediterranean. Later Onassis' wife got an Alabama divorce, Miss Callas left her husband, and the singer and the shipping man became constant companions.

Now living in Paris, Miss Callas refused to comment on Onassis' coming marriage.

World Holdings

Although still a Greek citizen with a home in Athens and considerable interests in this country, his worldwide holdings include mines in Indonesia, real estate in New York and his huge tanker fleet, which he has operated out of Monte Carlo and New York since World War II. With homes also in New York, Paris, Antwerp and Montevideo and offices in half a dozen countries, he travels more than 100,000 miles a year and speaks English, Spanish, French, Italian and Turkish.

Government sources in Washington said Mrs. Kennedy would lose her $10,000 presidential widow's annual pension and her personal Secret Service protection when she remarries. However, her two children can continue to have the protection of Secret Service agents until they

Foreign Ship To Load Clay Here

The Chicago & North Western Railway announced today that it had successfully handled a pilot shipment of bentonite clay from South Dakota over its ore dock here recently and that it would load 11,500 tons of the clay into the ocean vessel "Christina" here on Nov. 1 for delivery at Rotterdam.

The shipment is an unusual one locally both in its foreign carrier delivery abroad and its movement of clay over a dock which has been exclusively used in the past for the shipment of iron ore and pelletized ore.

William A. Kluender of Chicago, marketing manager for ores and metals for the North Western, said that the Christina would arrive in Escanaba from Chicago on Oct. 31 or Nov. 1 for loading the clay, which will be shipped over the North Western from Belle Fourche, South Dakota by American Colloid Co. of Skokie, Ill., a firm with an international business in clays.

Plan Second Loading

Kluender said that the North Western expected to load a second vessel with bentonite at Escanaba before the close of navigation for delivery abroad via the St. Lawrence Seaway.

From Rotterdam the clay will be distributed to foundries to be used in the making of moldings.

Bentonite has a number of industrial uses. It is an element used as a binder in the manufacture of iron ore pellets in the Upper Peninsula's mine plants. Traffic in the clay is in both crude and refined form.

The local loading will be of crude bentonite for processing abroad. It will move in open top hopper cars.

The clay will be processed in Europe before usage. The bentonite used in U. P. iron ore pelletizing plants is refined for this purpose and moved in closed cars.

Used In Basin

The two cars of bentonite which were moved over the local dock to test its handling ability proved the dock's capacity to handle the material efficiently, said Kluender.

The clay was dropped into dock pockets, and chuted onto a barge of Gallagher Marine Construction Co., whose deck had been covered with polyethylene sheeting. It was then taken to the Reiss coal dock and loaded back into railroad cars for movement to the Groos plant of Escanaba Paper Co., where it was used as a liner in a large settling basin created as a part of the ponding system of the paper mill's new effluent control system.

The clay is used for this purpose to make the pond leak-proof.

Democrats Hold Rally At Ensign

ENSIGN — About 30 residents of the Ensign area turned out Thursday night at the Ensign Township Hall for a Democratic political rally.

All Democratic candidates from Delta County appeared at the rally, including Einar Erlandsen, candidate for state representative; Myrtle Ottensman, treasurer; William E. Butler, county clerk; Nicholas Chapek, prosecuting attorney; Harold Finnman, sheriff, and Stanley Dominick, county board of supervisors. Dean Shipman, non-partisan candidate for district judge, also attended the rally.

Mrs. Ottensman was in charge of the program. Dominick arranged refreshments.

Briefly Told

State Police issued traffic summonses Thursday to James Ercola, Crystal Falls, speeding; Rod McGinn, Sault Ste. Marie, speeding; Edward Pyke, Rapid River, improper overtaking and passing, and Elizabeth Faust, Rte. 1, Escanaba, expired operator's license.

Escanaba police have issued traffic court notices to Greg Curran, 620 S. 12th St., disobeying a stop sign; Leonard W. Dahlvik, Milwaukee, speeding; LeVonne Yelland, 402 S. 5th St., no operator's license on person; and R. L. Lewis, 802 S. 17th St., failing to exercise due care, excessive noise and improper lane usage.

The Gladstone Senior Citizens Club will meet Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the clubrooms located in the City Hall basement. Refreshments will be served and all senior citizens are invited to attend.

A regular meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose, Escanaba Lodge 1675 will meet at 8 p. m. Sunday at the Carpenter's Hall. There will be a tour of the future lodge and interested persons are invited to attend. Wives are invited to come at 9:15 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Monsoon; Switch Bombing Tactics

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers streaked through heavy monsoon clouds again today to continue their daily bombing of North Vietnam while the Saigon government continued to balk at agreeing to a bombing halt.

Assessment of the damage was hampered by the poor weather but the pilots reported destroying or damaging 19 supply boats, two trucks, six warehouses and two bridges.

U.S. military sources said the American pilots are concentrating more on the waterways because there is less truck traffic moving south.

"There is a hell of a lot less truck traffic because of the interdiction campaign and because of the monsoons which have made some roads impassable," one source said. "There are more barges now. We'll be hitting these more and more."

Australia's small air contingent reported its biggest kill of the war so far, 40 Viet Cong killed by a Canberra jet bomber near Pleiku, in the central highlands. A spokesman said the bomber attacked an enemy troop concentration Wednesday night. The pilot reported "a large secondary explosion," and an observation pilot counted the bodies the next day, the spokesman said.

The lull in ground fighting continued. In its morning communique the U.S. Command again said there was no contact with the enemy Thursday.

U.S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen reported discovering two more munitions stockpiles 10 and 20 miles south of Saigon.

Near the demilitarized zone U.S. Marines uncovered a cache of 300 rounds of 152mm artillery rounds.

Allied officers claim that the uncovering of hundreds of tons of stockpiled enemy guns, ammunition and food stockpiles have helped prevent another offensive against South Vietnamese cities.

'Pull Together,' Iron River Told

IRON RIVER — After recovering from the initial shock, leaders of this Upper Peninsula community immediately sounded calls for "west side unity" to keep Iron River from becoming a ghost town.

The community was startled by the announcement that the Hanna Mining Co. would close its district office and start reducing its work force at the Homer-Wauseca iron mine.

"We should all pull together to work to obtain new industry," Iron County Board Chairman Leonard Schive, and a miner for 27 years, declared.

"Other communities have lost their major industries and have made fresh starts and we can do the same," he said.

He referred to Iron Mountain and Kingsford, twin cities on the Wisconsin-Michigan border, which lost a Ford Motor Co. plant and to Ironwood and other Gogebic range communities which faced up to the problem of loss of a mining industry.

Fifty-five salaried employees of Hanna will be affected when the mine operator consolidates its Michigan office with the Hibbing (Minn.) district office. Between 40 and 50 men will be laid off at the Homer Wauseca mine by Nov. 1 and an undetermined number will be idled by Jan. 1.

Life of the Homer-Wauseca, an underground mine where 466 salaried and hourly rated workers are employed, is expected to end within two years.

"The news should serve to knit the people together to promote the community," Iron River Mayor Fred Saigh said.

Foreign Ship To Load Clay Here

The Chicago & North Western Railway announced today that it had successfully handled a pilot shipment of bentonite clay from South Dakota over its ore dock here recently and that it would load 11,500 tons of the clay into the ocean vessel "Christina" here on Nov. 1 for delivery at Rotterdam.

The shipment is an unusual one locally both in its foreign carrier delivery abroad and its movement of clay over a dock which has been exclusively used in the past for the shipment of iron ore and pelletized ore.

William A. Klunder of Chicago, marketing manager for ores and metals for the North Western, said that the Christina would arrive in Escanaba from Chicago on Oct. 31 or Nov. 1 for loading the clay, which will be shipped over the North Western from Belle Fourche, South Dakota by American Colloid Co. of Skokie, Ill., a firm with an international business in clays.

Plan Second Loading

Klunder said that the North Western expected to load a second vessel with bentonite at Escanaba before the close of navigation for delivery abroad via the St. Lawrence Seaway.

From Rotterdam the clay will be distributed to foundries to be used in the making of moldings.

Bentonite has a number of industrial uses. It is an element used as a binder in the manufacture of iron ore pellets in the Upper Peninsula's mine plants. Traffic in the clay is in both crude and refined form. The local loading will be of crude bentonite for processing abroad. It will move in open top hopper cars.

The clay will be processed in Europe before usage. The bentonite used in U. P. iron ore pelletizing plants is refined for this purpose and moved in closed cars.

Used In Basin

The two cars of bentonite which were moved over the local dock to test its handling ability proved the dock's capacity to handle the material efficiently, said Klunder.

The clay was dropped into dock pockets, and chuted onto a barge of Gallagher Marine Construction Co., whose deck had been covered with polyethylene sheeting. It was then taken to the Reiss coal dock and loaded back into railroad cars for movement to the Groce plant of Escanaba Paper Co., where it was used as a liner in a large settling basin created as a part of the ponding system of the paper mill's new effluent control system. The clay is used for this purpose to make the pond leak-proof.

Monsoon; Switch Bombing Tactics

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. fighter-bombers streaked through heavy monsoon clouds again today to continue their daily bombing of North Vietnam while the Saigon government continued to balk at agreeing to a bombing halt.

Assessment of the damage was hampered by the poor weather but the pilots reported destroying or damaging 19 supply boats, two trucks, six warehouses and two bridges.

U.S. military sources said the American pilots are concentrating more on the waterways because there is less truck traffic moving south.

"There is a hell of a lot less truck traffic because of the interdiction campaign and because of the monsoons which have made some roads impassable," one source said. "There are more barges now. We'll be hitting these more and more."

Australia's small air contingent reported its biggest kill of the war so far, 40 Viet Cong killed by a Canberra jet bomber near Pleiku, in the central highlands. A spokesman said the bomber attacked an enemy troop concentration Wednesday night. The pilot reported "a large secondary explosion," and an observation pilot counted the bodies the next day, the spokesman said.

The hull in ground fighting continued. In its morning communique the U.S. Command again said there was no contact with the enemy Thursday.

U.S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen reported discovering two more munitions stockpiles 10 and 20 miles south of Saigon.

Near the demilitarized zone U.S. Marines uncovered a cache of 300 rounds of 152mm artillery rounds.

Allied officers claim that the uncovering of hundreds of tons of stockpiled enemy guns, ammunition and food stockpiles have helped prevent another offensive against South Vietnamese cities.

'Pull Together,' Iron River Told

IRON RIVER—After recovering from the initial shock, leaders of this Upper Peninsula community immediately sounded calls for "west side unity" to keep Iron River from becoming a ghost town.

The community was startled by the announcement that the Hanna Mining Co. would close its district office and start reducing its work force at the Homer-Wausau iron mine.

"We should all pull together to work to obtain new industry," Iron County Board Chairman Leonard Schive, and a miner for 27 years, declared.

"Other communities have lost their major industries and have made fresh starts and we can do the same," he said.

He referred to Iron Mountain and Kingsford, twin cities on the Wisconsin-Michigan border, which lost a Ford Motor Co. plant and to Ironwood and other Gogebic range communities which faced up to the problem of loss of a mining industry.

Fifty-five salaried employees of Hanna will be affected when the mine operator consolidates its Michigan office with the Hibing (Minn.) district office.

Between 40 and 50 men will be laid off at the Homer Wausau mine by Nov. 1 and an undetermined number will be laid by Jan. 1.

Life of the Homer-Wausau, an underground mine where 466 salaried and hourly rated workers are employed, is expected to end within two years.

"The news should serve to knit the people together to promote the community," Iron River Mayor Fred Seigh said.

Ranch Stars Family Room

By ANDY LANG

The family room is no afterthought in this ranch house. It's where the emphasis is.

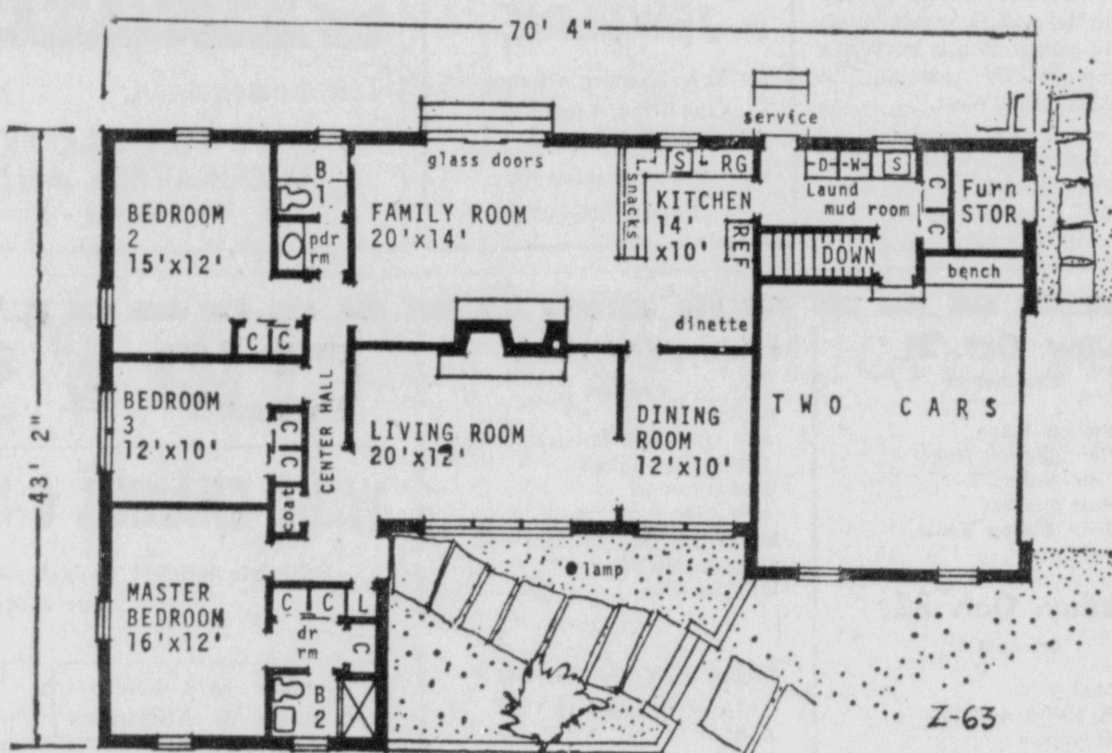

Rather than being relegated to a spare corner, the family room is placed boldly along the rear of the house, with sliding glass doors leading to the garage or terrace. Just as long as the living room — 20' — it is 2' wider. And it gives the illusion of being even larger since it is on a line with the kitchen, which has a dividing snack bar that could be used as a pass-through server or clearing counter.

An attractive masonry fireplace is centrally located in the family room on the wall opposite the glass doors. There's easy accessibility to the area, not only through the glass doors and the rear service entrance,

FAMILY ROOM-KITCHEN: Family room is a generous 20' long, but appears even longer because of alignment with kitchen in an open layout. Glass doors at left lead to outside rear.

REAR ELEVATION

FLOOR PLANS: Utilizing every inch of space, plans dispense with large foyer but have a central hall to permit proper traffic flow. Note how family room-kitchen and living room-dining room combinations are of equal size. Stone chimney serves two fireplaces.

but directly from the front door via the center hall.

At the front of the house, the living room and the dining room flow together, with large windows in each. A fireplace in the living room utilizes the same chimney as the one in the family room. Architect Lester Cohen has thus provided an arrangement that does not push either formal or informal living into the background, giving "equal time," in effect, to each.

To the left of the center hall is the bedroom wing, which includes three bedrooms, all buffered by hall, closets and baths from the living rooms of the house. The master bedroom has two exposures, good wall space and a dressing area, plus a separate bathroom with stall shower. A second full bathroom is at the rear, convenient to the two other bedrooms as well as the rest of the house.

The service area is next to the kitchen, but out of its way. It can be entered from the rear or from the two-car garage, providing protection for the kitchen from muddy feet as well as a passageway to the basement, since the stair is located there. There is space in the service section for a washer and dryer, with a sink under a window and with two closets. Also in this area, but with a separate outside opening of its own, is a place for the storage of outdoor furniture, garden, equipment bikes, etc.

Clean, crisp lines mark the exterior of this ranch. Brick veneer is used all around, with stone trim at the front and a large stone chimney. A feeling of extra warmth is achieved with window shutters, an outside lamp, a flower box stretching across the master bedroom and bathroom windows, a cupola on the garage and, most of all, an area at the front for shrubbery and flowers, enclosed by a low brick wall.

Lapeer Strike To Get Hearing

By The Associated Press

A circuit judge ordered a show cause hearing for today to determine whether union members should be restrained from striking the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Meanwhile, another union threatened to strike today against Ionia State Hospital. And a strike threat was called off at the Mount Pleasant State Home and Training School.

At Lapeer, Judge James Churchill of Circuit Court ordered officials of Local 567, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, to show cause why they shouldn't be enjoined from striking the Lapeer State Home.

The union, representing about 700 of the 1,100 employees at the facility, set up picket lines Wednesday night in a dispute over personnel practices.

The Michigan attorney general's office went to court seeking the temporary restraining order and injunction.

State law forbids public employees to strike.

At Ionia, negotiations were broken off Thursday between the Michigan State Employees Union and Ionia State Hospital. The union had been bargaining for safety measures for hospital attendants.

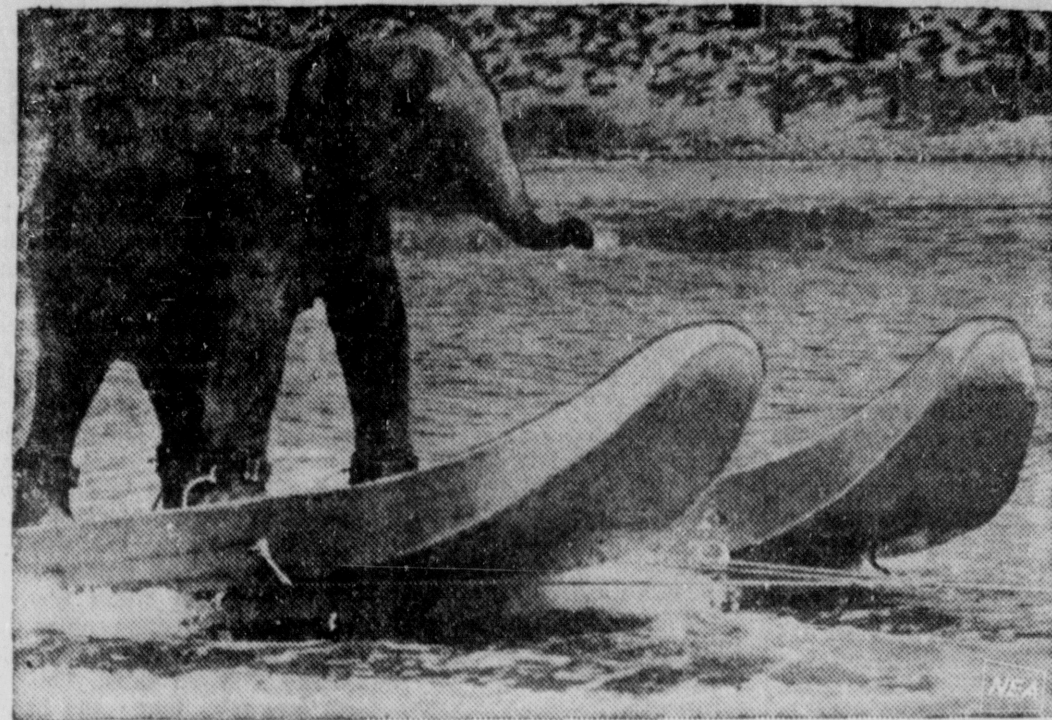

In Mount Pleasant, the 400-member Local 1138 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees had threatened to walk out today.

But within hours after posting the strike notice, union officials reversed their action and said they wanted to determine the outcome of the Lapeer situation before ordering a strike.

Dr. William Diamond, superintendent of the Mount Pleasant State Home, said he was asking parents and guardians of children in the home to take the youngsters into private homes until the union dispute is resolved. The home has some 1,320 patients and employs a total of about 800.

Long Sleepers Have High Death Rates From Stroke

NEW YORK (AP) — A study of hundreds of thousands of Americans shows that the death rate from strokes and coronary heart disease are higher among people who usually sleep long hours at night.

The new statistical link between disease and men's and women's habits showed that the death rate from stroke was "considerably higher" among those who usually slept 9 or 10 hours a night than for those who usually slept 7 hours a night.

For coronary heart disease, the death rate was "generally higher" for those with the same sleeping habits.

The report by Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, epidemiologist and statistician for the American Cancer Society, was given today at Albany, N.Y., Medical College and made available in New York.

50-59 Danger Age

The largest figure was in stroke mortality ratios for men 50 to 59 years old. For persons who slept 10 or more hours a night, the death rate was 286 per cent higher than for those who slept 7 hours. The percentage ranged downward to 14 per cent for coronary heart disease deaths in men 60-69.

For women 50-59, the coronary heart disease death rate was 89 per cent higher. Figures were not available for all age groups.

Hammond refrained from giving in his paper a possible reason for what he called "a brand new finding," but speculated in an interview that long hours of sleep might result from drowsiness caused by the reduced flow of blood to the brain. In this view it would be a symptom.

However, he said, the long hours of sleep could perhaps cause disease by reducing the amount of time a person is active—so he is depositing fat in his body more of the time, rather than burning it up.

For all the data on habits, however, Hammond said scientists have not found a basic cause of heart disease, stroke and aortic aneurysm, which he said account for 60 per cent of all deaths.

Still Seeks Cause

"I don't think it's genetic," he said. "I think it's something in the American environment, the way we live. If it is, it should be possible to find out what it is."

"We have at least a fighting chance of finding it."

For coronary heart disease below the age of 60, he continued in his paper, cigarette smoking seems to be the most important factor, with obesity next. Over 60, lack of exercise seems to be most important.

The pattern for stroke is similar, although not identical, he said, adding: "Long hours of sleep seem to be more important in relation to stroke than in relation to coronary heart disease."

The Cancer Society began its epidemiological study in 1959-1960, when more than a million persons were enrolled. The total was reduced for the study to nearly 800,000 men and women between 40 and 79 in 1959, and free of disease.

The study also found higher death rates from aortic aneurysm in men 50 to 69 who slept 8 or 9 hours a night, compared to men who slept 7 hours a night.

Note Deductible Plan In Medicare

Supplementary Medical Insurance under the social security Medicare plan has a deductible which must be met each year before Medicare pays, according to Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager in Escanaba.

Medicare cannot pay for physicians and related services until after $50 of these services are accumulated. Then Medicare pays 80 per cent of the reasonable charges over this first $50, he said.

If this $50 isn't accumulated until the last three months of the year, then the expenses in these last three months can be carried over into the next year, too, and used as part of the next year's deductible.

'Soul' Is Really Negro 'Laugh-In'

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
NEW YORK (AP) — The marked family resemblance between the weekly "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and Thursday night's NBC special "Soul" was no accident.

"Soul" was really a Negro "Laugh-In," George Schlatter and Ed Friendly, fathers of the Monday night hit series, assembled a number of talented and attractive Negro performers—singers, dancers, comedians—and assigned the writing to a team from the Watts Writers Workshop. Then they mixed the music, the jokes and the sketches like a tossed salad. The result was fast, funny and handsome.

There was more singing and dancing and more impressive production numbers than on the parent show. And, of course, it was possible to slant the humor toward Negro-white relationships, and present inside Negro jokes. While it was brash, irreverent and sometimes a little risqué, it was never bitter.

Topical Humor
Lou Rawls and Martha Reeves and the Vandellas stuck to their musical specialties, while another singing act, Hines, Hines and Dad, moved out of their usual repertoire to join the comedy with great success. The burden of the topical humor was on the professional funny men—George Kirby, Redd Foxx, Nipsey Russell and Slappy White. In "Laugh-In" style, endless short takes and wise cracks were mixed with some pretty old jokes. The humor was aimed at everything from the Ku Klux Klan to the Negroes themselves.

Earlier there was another engaging special on the network, "Fabulous Shorts," a delightful hour dedicated to showing, in whole or in part, animated cartoon films that have won Oscars.

Patch Up
Present, of course, were Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Bugs Bunny and Mr. Magoo. But there were also two off-beat and fascinating short subjects to be especially savored by the adult audience.

One was a cartoon called "Moonbird," which started with a recording of an imaginative conversation between two very young children. The creators—parents of the children—then matched the animation to the children's words.

The other was a product of Yugoslavia called "Ersatz," which with some distinctive drawings wordlessly editorialized on the artificial nature of our society.

ABC, only one month into its new season, is already planning to patch up its schedule. In early January it will launch a weekly variety hour starring British pop singer Tom Jones. "Judd for the Defense," a courtroom dramatic series now in its second season will be relocated from its Friday night spot to make room for the new show. The network has not indicated which hour show will be dropped at midseason.

Chrysler Corp. Report Records

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. reported today it set new records in both sales and profits during the first nine months of 1968.

Chrysler reported net earnings of $178.5 million, equal to $3.83 per share of common stock, in the three quarters ended Sept. 30, compared with $93.4 million, or $2.03 a share, in the same span of 1967.

Sales were $5.3 billion, up 25 per cent over the previous high of $4.2 billion registered in the first nine months of last year.

The new three-quarter profit mark was 31 per cent above the record of $136.4 million set in 1965, the auto industry's bonanza year.

Chrysler was the first of the major automakers to report its nine months figures. General Motors and Ford are expected to disclose theirs next week.

American Motors announced Wednesday it expected to show its first profit since 1965 for its fiscal year ended last Sept. 30. American Motors lost $75 million in the year ended Sept. 30, 1967. It is the only automaker not reporting on a calendar year basis.

For the first three quarters, Chrysler is only $21.9 million behind its total earnings of $200.4 million for all of 1967.

Mae West Stars In Her Own Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Mae West, who has not appeared in movies since 1943, will make a film version early next year of a play she wrote and starred in.

Miss West, 75, appeared in her play "Sexet" in 1961 during its Florida run.

The movie will be co-produced for Warner Bros.-Seven Arts by James T. Aubrey Jr., former president of the Columbia Broadcasting System television network, and Hunt Stromberg Jr., the film company announced Thursday.

Miss West has made recordings and television appearances in recent years. She is currently preparing a TV special, "A Night with Mae West."

The Bahamas were visited by 46,290 tourists in September, 1967, according to the ministry of tourism.

Five Dollar Bill To Get Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced today it will stop issuing $5 bills that carry the designation "United States Note"—thereby assuring that collectors all over the country will begin squirreling them away.

It happens whenever any type of currency is discontinued. There are, for instance, $135 million worth of $2 bills still in the public's hands, though they were last issued in 1966.

"We don't get many of these two backs," a Treasury source said. "All over the country people are hanging on to them in hopes they'll turn out to be worth something big to give to their grandchildren. The same thing will probably happen with these fives."

The $5 U.S. Notes are already a minor rarity, amounting to only $167 million in circulation compared with $2.5 billion worth

Wick And Plouff On Dean's List At Michigan Tech

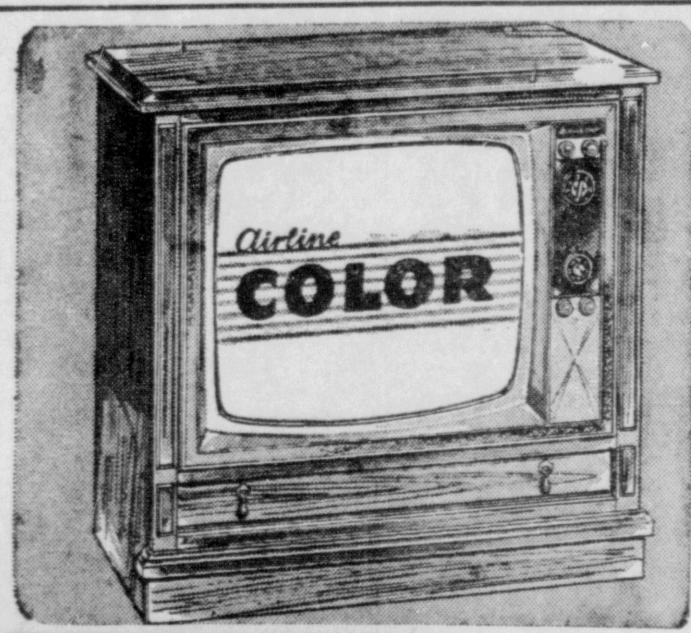

Sixty-eight juniors and 50 freshmen at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, were named to the dean's list during the spring quarter for earning a grade point average of 3.50 or higher. They include:

Carl J. Wick, Cornell, majoring in mechanical engineering, a junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wick, Cornell Rte. 1.

Thomas E. Plouff, Escanaba, a freshman majoring in civil engineering, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Plouff, 320 S. 12th St. of Federal Reserve Note fives.

Cutting back to just one type of $5 bill makes economic sense, the Treasury explained. As things stand now the process of retiring old worn-out bills as they flow through the banking system requires extra sorting and separate handling for the two classes of fives.

Note Deductible Plan In Medicare

Supplementary Medical Insurance under the social security Medicare plan has a deductible which must be met each year before Medicare pays, according to Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager in Escanaba.

Medicare cannot pay for physicians and related services until after $50 of these services are accumulated. Then Medicare pays 80 per cent of the reasonable charges over this first $50, he said.

If this $50 isn't accumulated until the last three months of the year, then the expenses in these last three months can be carried over into the next year, too, and used as part of the next year's deductible.

By MIKE UTT

There were no 700 series bowled in any of Escanaba's bowling establishments this past week, but Bernie St. Onge came the closest with a 698 series in the Friday Night Mixed Couples league at the Bowl-A-Rama. St. Onge rolled games of 254, 245 and 199 in performing his feat.

Peterson rolled a 246 game with a split open in the first frame in the Teachers League at the Bowl-A-Rama. Ken finished with a 619 series.

Northwestern To Meet 5th Straight Toughie

By The Associated Press

You've heard about hanging the coach in effigy when the team is on the skids, at Northwestern University they might just be contemplating a mock string up of the guy who mapped out the school's football schedule this season.

Without a doubt, it's the most demanding presented to a college team in quite some time.

On successive Saturdays, the Wildcats have been paired against Miami, Fla. (No. 12 in this week's Associated Press poll), top-ranked Southern California, Purdue (then ranked No. 1), and Notre Dame (sixth this week).

Northwestern, of course, has dropped all four—and there aren't any prospects for immediate relief. Saturday, the Wildcats furnish the opposition for No. 2 Ohio State, itching to wrest away the national championship from Southern Cal.

The Buckeyes climbed into the runner-up role as a close second to the Trojans with a 13-0 victory over Purdue last weekend that knocked the Boiler-makers from the top spot.

Southern Cal, meanwhile, turns loose O.J. Simpson against lowly Washington Saturday in search of its fifth straight.

No. 3 Penn State is idle, while fourth-ranked Kansas draws Big Eight foe Oklahoma State, fresh from a 21-17 upset of Houston.

No. 5 Purdue should have Leroy Keyes back at full strength

Red Wings Top Rangers, 7-2

DETROIT (AP) — Pete Stenkowski, criticized earlier in the week for being out of condition, led the Detroit Red Wings to a 7-2 victory Thursday over the New York Rangers with a goal and two assists.

Stenkowski set up defenseman Gary Bergman for the game's first goal and then ignited a three-goal burst early in the third period with his first goal of the season.

Alex Delvecchio, Ron Harris, Garry Unger, Pete Mahovich and Nick Libett also scored for Detroit which won its first game for new Coach Bill Badsby after two defeats.

Bob Nevin scored both New York goals on power plays at 1:16 and 6:26 of the second period. They gave the Rangers a 2-1 lead which lasted less than two minutes.

Delvecchio, moved to left wing in place of Dean Prentice who was out with an injury, fired a hard shot from the boards to beat Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin at 8:45 and tied the score.

Wing defenseman Harris blasted a low screened shot past Giacomin at 19:41 of the period and then the Wings rapped it up with their early third period explosion.

Libett completed the scoring on a Pete Mahovich setup at 15:45.

Embarrassed Americans Fall Back In Total Medals Won

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Russians are on the move and the racially-troubled Americans are officially—but perhaps temporarily—embarrassed in these harassed, politically tainted 19th Olympic Games.

Russia picked up 10 medals Thursday, two of them gold, and moved past the United States in total medals 19-17. The Americans still lead in gold medals, 9-5, including a 1-2 finish in the 110-meter hurdles and record-breaking victories by two swimming relay teams.

Off the playing fields and in the conference rooms, the United States took an even worse beating, receiving a slap on the wrist from the International Olympic Committee over the conduct of black athletes Tommie Smith and John Carlos.

Smith and Carlos, 1-3 finishers in the 200 meters Wednesday, refused to look at the American flag after receiving their medals and raised black-gloved, clenched fists in protest of the racial question in the United States.

Brundage Speaks

The IOC, through President Avery Brundage, released a statement saying: "One of the basic principles of the Olympic Games is that politics play no part whatsoever in them."

"Yesterday U.S. athletes in a victory ceremony deliberately violated the universally accepted principle by using the occasion to advertise domestic political views. The United States Olympic Committee carries responsibility for its competitors." "I am embarrassed," acting USOC Director Everett Barnes told a newsmen. "All of us are embarrassed. It makes our country look like the devil."

There was no such incident Thursday, when Willie Davenport of Warren, Ohio, and Ervin Hall of Philadelphia swept a 1-2 finish in the 110-meter hurdles,

Nicklaus Leads Sahara Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, in quest of his fourth victory in one of the autumn's richer golf tournaments, and two less renowned rivals led the way into the second round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational today.

The winner the last two years and in 1963, Nicklaus, along with long Bill Collins and Dale Douglass, all shot first round scores of 34-37, four strokes under par, and gained a mere one-stroke lead over their nearest challengers.

Tied at 68 were Julius Boros, Kermit Zarley and Joe Porter.

Play is at the 7,019-yard, par 36-35-71 Paradise Valley Country Club course, a test that no less than 28 met with sub par success Thursday.

Included in the 70 or better class was National Open champion Lee Trevino, whose 70 deadlocked him with such pros as Chi Chi Rodriguez and R. H. Sikes.

George Archer, one of the top five money winners on the tour, was in the 69 group, while the leading money winner of the year, Billy Casper, had to settle for 71.

Davenport winning in 13.3, matching the Olympic record.

Both Negroes stood at attention during the victory ceremony, and refused to discuss the racial question. "I'd rather not mention it," said Davenport.

"The same with me," said Hall.

The American victories in the two swimming relays, the women's 400-meter medley and the men's 400-meter freestyle, was expected but completely unexpected was a bronze medal from Larry Young of San Pedro, Calif.

It was the first medal the United States had ever won in Olympic walking competition. Young was near exhaustion when he came in more than 10 minutes after the winner, Christoph Hohne of East Germany, who was timed in four hours, 20:13.6.

Antel Kiss of Hungary was second and Young was third in 4:31:55.4.

Breaks Records

The U.S. men's 400-meter freestyle relay team broke all the records, world and Olympic, with a 3:31.7 clocking.

The foursome of Zac Zorn of Buena Park, Calif., Steve Rych of Paterson, N.J., Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., and Ken Walsh of Ponte Verda, Calif., beat the world record of 3:32.5.

Russia was second, four meters back, in 3:34.2.

The U.S. girls broke the listed world and olympic records in the medley.

Star Negro Sprinters Suspended From Team

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee suspended star Negro sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos from the U.S. Olympic team today for "untypical exhibitionism" during an Olympic victory ceremony Wednesday.

The decision followed a complaint by the International Olympic Committee regarding the conduct of Smith when he received the gold medal for winning the 200-meter event and Carlos when he was presented the bronze medal for finishing third in the 200-meter finals Wednesday.

Both Smith and Carlos raised clenched fists clothed in black gloves during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner and also wore black knee socks without shoes during the presentation ceremony.

They also wore identical buttons on their team uniforms citing demands for racial equality.

Two members of the U.S. Olympic Committee's board of consultants, John Sayre, a rower in the 1960 Olympics, and Billy Mills, the 10,000-meter winner in 1964, went to the Olympic Village after midnight to notify Smith and Carlos to leave.

The statement from the U.S. Olympic Committee said that any repetition of "such incidents by other members of the U.S. team can only be considered a willful disregard of Olympic principles that would warrant the imposition of the severest penalties at the disposal of the U.S. Olympic Committee."

The statement expressed "profound regrets" to the IOC, the Mexican Organizing Committee and to the people of Mexico "for the discourtesy displayed by two members of this team in departing from tradition during a victory ceremony at the Olympic Stadium Oct. 16."

The statement continued: "The untypical exhibitionism of these athletes also violates the basic standards of sportsmanship and good manners which are so highly regarded in the United States, and therefore the two men involved are suspended forthwith from the team and ordered to remove themselves from the Olympic Village."

Lions Hoping For Sweep Against Packers Sunday

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions will be out to win their first game at home against Green Bay since 1962 when they take on the Packers Sunday in the second meeting of the teams this season.

Detroit won at Green Bay 23-17 Sept. 29 but hasn't swept two games in one season over the Packers since 1957.

Lions' Head Coach Joe Schmidt expects Sunday's encounter to be "our toughest game to date."

Green Bay, defending National Football League and Super Bowl champions, has gotten off on the wrong foot this season but hopes to rebound against the Lions.

"The Packers are noted for their pride," said Schmidt. "They've lost three times this year. They played a great game last Sunday against the undefeated (Los Angeles) Rams and then got nosed out on a field goal in the final minute. They'll be out for blood this Sunday."

A victory for the Lions could possibly mean taking over first place in the NFL's Central Division all alone. Detroit and Minnesota are tied for first with identical 3-2 records, while Green Bay is 2-3.

The Vikings face undefeated Dallas Sunday.

Detroit has displayed a well rounded offense this year under the leadership of quarterback Bill Munson. In last week's 28-10 victory over Chicago Munson hit on 13 of 22 passes for 169 yards and one touchdown. That pushed his season record to 56 of 85 passes completed for 659 yards and a 65.9 percentage. This includes seven touchdowns and only two interceptions.

Mel Farr carried the ball 18

times for 138 yards last week and caught six passes for 73 yards. He scored three touchdowns for his best scoring performance of his career. As a result, he was named NFL offensive player of the week by the Associated Press.

The Lions and Packers have met 70 times since 1934 with Green Bay holding a 40-27-3 edge. Detroit last beat Green Bay at home on Thanksgiving Day in 1962 by a 26-14 score.

Meanwhile, three Lions remained unsigned to contracts as of Thursday. They were full-backs Bill Triplett and Tom Hall, 17-year-old from Tacoma, Wash.; Catie Ball, 17, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Ellie Daniels, 18, of Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Pedersen, 15, of Sacramento, Calif., was timed in 4:28.3. The same quartet, however, has a pending world mark of 4:28.1.

The only swimming-diving final scheduled today is the springboard diving, with Lt. Micki King, Pontiac, Mich., in the lead after seven dives.

The Russians had their biggest day of the Games, with Victor Saneyer winning the triple jump at 57 feet 3/4 inches a world record, and Boris Selitsky and Vladimir Belyear finishing 1-2 in the light-heavyweight weightlifting. Each hoisted 1,067 pounds with Selitsky getting the nod because of his lighter weight.

Russians also were 2-3 in the women's high jump, but Antonina Korakava and Valentina Kozyr refused to attend the press interview with Czech winner Miloslava Rezkova, who cleared 5-11 1/4.

Defending champion Romould Klim was second to Gyulia Asotky of Hungary in the hammer throw, whose winning throw was 240-8. They also got a third in the modern pentathlon, second in team pentathlon, and second in saber fencing.

Other winners of the day's heavy schedule included Bjorn Fern of Sweden in the modern pentathlon, Mohamed Gammoudi of Tunisia in 14:05.0, with Australia's Ron Clarke challenging in the final laps, then falling back into the pack.

Hungary won the team pentathlon, Pierre Trehin of France took the 1,000-meter time trial cycling event and Jerry Pawlowski of Poland took the gold medal in saber fencing.

U.S. prospects—on the playing fields—appear bright. For the first time they have put all seven crews into the rowing finals, with William Maher, Detroit and John Nunn, Cincinnati, making it through the semifinals of the double skulls.

The Americans also placed a full compliment of three in the track semifinals, of the men's 400 and has three girls—headed by Barbara Ferrell's Olympic record 22.8—in the finals of the women's 200.

Eskymos Need Pair Of Wins For Crown

With two games remaining on their Great Northern Conference schedule, the Escanaba Eskymos need victories in both contests to repeat as champions in the conference race.

The Eskymos, sitting atop standings with a 2-0-1 mark, play at Iron Mountain this Saturday and must defeat cross-town rival Holy Name in the season wrapup next weekend. Menominee closes out its conference slate Saturday while playing host to the Kingsford Flivvers and West Iron County, playing out of the conference this weekend, ended with a 3-1-1 record last weekend, defeating Holy Name, 39-0.

Steve Shoquist of West Iron County lengthened his lead in the conference scoring race with two touchdowns against the Crusaders and now has tallied 66 points in the five league games he has played in. Pat Collins of Menominee is in second place with 42 points in four games. Escanaba's Jim Olsen and Dan Mylander rank third and fourth with 30 and 26 points respectively.

Collins managed to hold his big lead in the rushing department although the Maroons played out of the conference last weekend. The Maroon full-back has rushed for 520 yards in 94 carries to maintain a big margin over the second place Shoquist, who has 350 yards in 89 rushing attempts.

Some conference records have already been broken as Collins' 520 yards rushing tops the 499 mark set by Chris Alberti of Kingsford in 1965; Shoquist's 66 points surpasses the 59 points scored by Alberti in 1967; and Iron Mountain's Bob Palomaki has broken the season passing yardage total of 528 yards, set by Rudy Steiner of Iron Mountain in 1967, with 575 yards going into the game with Escanaba Saturday. Palomaki has also tied the mark of 44 completions set by Dennis Alex-jun of Stephenson in 1966.

Palomaki holds a big lead in the passing department over Escanaba's Greg Johnson with 44 completions in 87 attempts for 575 yards and four touchdowns. Johnson has hit on nine of 22 passing attempts for 244 yards and two touchdowns. Bob McGinn of Holy Name is in fifth place with 20 completions in 52 attempts for 151 yards.

The Iron Mountain junior varsity has clinched at least a tie for the conference championship with a 4-0 record with one game left to play. Escanaba is in second place with a 2-1 record.

Northwestern To Meet 5th Straight Toughie

By The Associated Press
You've heard about hanging the coach in effigy when the team is on the skids, at Northwestern University they might just be contemplating a mock string up of the guy who mapped out the school's football schedule this season.

Without a doubt, it's the most demanding presented to a college team in quite some time.

On successive Saturdays, the Wildcats have been paired against Miami, Fla. (No. 12 in this week's Associated Press poll), top-ranked Southern California, Purdue (then ranked No. 1), and Notre Dame (sixth this week).

Northwestern, of course, has dropped all four—and there aren't any prospects for immediate relief. Saturday, the Wildcats furnish the opposition for No. 3 Ohio State, itching to wrest away the national championship from Southern Cal.

The Buckeyes climbed into the runnerup role as a close second to the Trojans with a 13-0 victory over Purdue last week and that knocked the Bolshers makers from the top spot.

Southern Cal, meanwhile, turns loose O.J. Simpson against lowly Washington Saturday in search of its fifth straight.

No. 3 Penn State, is idle, while fourth-ranked Kansas draws Big Eight foe Oklahoma State, fresh from a 21-17 upset of Houston.

No. 5 Purdue should have Leroy Keyes back at full strength

Red Wings Top Rangers, 7-2

DETROIT (AP) — Pete Stenkowski, criticized earlier in the week for being out of condition, led the Detroit Red Wings to a 7-2 victory Thursday over the New York Rangers with a goal and two assists.

Stenkowski set up defenseman Gary Bergman for the game's first goal and then ignited a three-goal burst early in the third period with his first goal of the season.

Alex Delvecchio, Ron Harris, Garry Unger, Pete Mahovich and Nick Libett also scored for Detroit which won its first game for new Coach Bill Dadsby after two defeats.

Bob Nevin scored both New York goals on power plays at 1:16 and 6:26 of the second period. They gave the Rangers a 2-1 lead which lasted less than two minutes.

Delvecchio, moved to left wing in place of Dean Prentice who was out with an injury, fired a hard shot from the boards to beat Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin at 8:45 and tied the score.

Wing defenseman Harris blasted a low screened shot past Giacomin at 19:41 of the period and then the Wings rapped it up with their early third period explosion.

Libett completed the scoring on a Pete Mahovich setup at 16:45.

Embarrassed Americans Fall Back In Total Medals Won

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Russians are on the move and the racially-troubled Americans are officially—but perhaps temporarily—embarrassed in the medal race, politically tainted 19th Olympic Games.

Russia picked up 10 medals Thursday, two of them gold, and moved past the United States in the medal count to 19-17. The Americans still lead in gold medals, 9-5, including a 1-2 finish in the 110-meter hurdles and record-breaking victories by two swimming relay teams.

Off the playing fields and in the conference rooms, the United States took an even worse beating, receiving a slap on the wrist from the International Olympic Committee over the conduct of black athletes Tommie Smith and John Carlos.

Smith and Carlos, 1-3 finishers in the 200 meters Wednesday, refused to look at the American flag after receiving their medals and raised black-gloved, clenched fists in protest of the racial question in the United States.

Brundage Speaks

The IOC, through President Avery Brundage, released a statement saying:

"One of the basic principles of the Olympic Games is that politics play no part whatsoever in them."

"Yesterday U.S. athletes in a victory ceremony deliberately violated the universally accepted principle by using the occasion to advertise domestic political views. The United States Olympic Committee carries responsibility for its competitors."

"I am embarrassed," acting USOC Director Everett Barnes told a newsmen. "All of us are embarrassed. It makes our country look like the devil."

There was no such incident Thursday, when Willie Davenport of Warren, Ohio, and Ervin Hall of Philadelphia swept a 1-2 finish in the 110-meter hurdles.

Nicklaus Leads Sahara Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, in quest of his fourth victory in one of the autumn's richer golf tournaments, led the way into the second round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational today.

The winner the last two years and in 1968, Nicklaus, along with long Bill Collins and Dale Douglass, all shot first round scores of 34-35-37, four strokes under par, and gained a mere one-stroke lead over their nearest challengers.

Tied at 68 were Julius Boros, Kermit Zarley and Joe Porter.

Play is at the 7,019-yard, par 36-35-37 Paradise Valley Country Club course, a test that no less than 28 men with sub par success Thursday.

Included in the 70 or better class was National Open champion Lee Trevino, whose 70 deadlocked him with such pros as Chi Chi Rodriguez and R. H. Sikes.

George Archer, one of the top five money winners on the tour, was in the 69 group, while the leading money winner of the year, Billy Casper, had to settle for 71.

Davenport winning in 13.3, matching the Olympic record.

Both Negroes stood at attention during the victory ceremony, and refused to discuss the racial question. "I'd rather not mention it," said Davenport.

"The same with me," said Hall. The American victories in the two swimming relays, the women's 400-meter medley and the men's 400-meter freestyle, was expected but completely unexpected was a bronze medal from Larry Young of San Pedro, Calif.

It was the first medal the United States had ever won in Olympic walking competition. Young was near exhaustion when he came in more than 10 minutes after the winner, Christoph Hohne of East Germany, who was timed in four hours, 20:13.6.

Antel Kiss of Hungary was second and Young was third in 4:31:55.4.

Breaks Records
The U.S. men's 400-meter freestyle relay team broke all the records, world and Olympic, with a 3:31.7 clocking.

The foursome of Zac Zorn of Buena Park, Calif., Steve Rych of Paterson, N.J., Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., and Ken Walsh of Ponte Verda, Calif., beat the world record of 3:32.5.

Russia was second, four meters back, in 3:34.2.

The U.S. girls broke the listed world and Olympic records in the medley.

The team, made up of Kaye

Hall, 17-year-old from Tacoma, Wash.; Katie Ball, 17, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Ellie Daniels, 18, of Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Pedersen, 15, of Sacramento, Calif., was timed in 4:28.3. The same quartet, however, has a pending world mark of 4:28.1.

The only swimming-diving final scheduled today is the springboard diving, with L. Micki King, Pontiac, Mich., in the lead after seven dives.

The Russians had their biggest day of the Games, with Victor Saneyev winning the triple jump at 57 feet 4 inches a world record, and Boris Selitsky and Vladimir Belyayev finishing 1-2 in the light-heavyweight weightlifting. Each hoisted 1,067 pounds with Selitsky getting the nod because of his lighter weight.

Russians also were 2-3 in the women's high jump, but Antonina Korakava and Valentina Kozry refused to attend the press interview with Czech winner Miloslava Rezkova, who cleared 5-11 1/2.

Defending champion Romold Klim was second to Gyulia Asotsky of Hungary in the hammer throw, whose winning throw was 240-8. They also got a third in the modern pentathlon, and second in saber fencing.

Other winners of the day's heavy schedule included Bjorn Fern of Sweden in the modern pentathlon, Mohamed Gammoudi of Tunisia in 14:05.0, with Australia's Ron Clarke challenging in the final laps, then falling back into the pack.

Hungary won the team pentathlon, Pierre Tychin of France took the 1,000-meter time trial cycling event and Jerry Pawlowski of Poland took the gold medal in saber fencing.

U.S. prospects on the playing fields—appear bright. For the first time they have put all seven crews into the rowing finals, with William Maher, Detroit, and John Nunn, Cincinnati, making it through the semifinals of the double skiffs.

The Americans also placed a full compliment of three in the track semifinals, of the men's 400 and has three girls—headed by Barbara Ferrell's Olympic record 22.8—in the finals of the women's 200.

Star Negro Sprinters Suspended From Team

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee suspended star Negro sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos from the U.S. Olympic team today for "untypical exhibitionism" during an Olympic victory ceremony Wednesday.

The decision followed a complaint by the International Olympic Committee regarding the conduct of Smith when he received the gold medal for winning the 200-meter event and Carlos when he was presented the bronze medal for finishing third in the 200-meter finals Wednesday.

Both Smith and Carlos raised clenched fists clothed in black gloves during the playing of the Star Spangled Banner and also wore black knee socks without shoes during the presentation ceremony.

They also wore identical buttons on their team uniforms citing demands for racial equality.

Two members of the U.S. Olympic Committee's board of consultants, John Sayre, a rower in the 1960 Olympics, and Billy Mills, the 10,000-meter winner in 1964, went to the Olympic Village after midnight to notify Smith and Carlos to leave.

The statement from the U.S. Olympic Committee said that any repetition of "such incidents by other members of the U.S. team can only be considered a willful disregard of Olympic principles that would warrant the imposition of the severest penalties at the disposal of the U.S. Olympic Committee."

The statement expressed "profound regret" to the IOC, the Mexican Organizing Committee and to the people of Mexico "for the discourtesy displayed by two members of this team in departing from tradition during a victory ceremony at the Olympic Stadium Oct. 16."

The statement continued: "The untypical exhibitionism of these athletes also violates the basic standards of sportsmanship and good manners which are so highly regarded in the United States, and therefore the two men involved are suspended forthwith from the team and ordered to remove themselves from the Olympic Village."

Lions Hoping For Sweep Against Packers Sunday

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions will be out to win their first game at home against Green Bay since 1962 when they take on the Packers Sunday in the second meeting of the teams this season.

Detroit won at Green Bay 23-17 Sept. 29 but hasn't swept two games in one season over the Packers since 1957.

Lions' Head Coach Joe Schmidt expects Sunday's encounter to be "our toughest game to date." Green Bay, defending National Football League and Super Bowl champions, has gotten off on the wrong foot this season but hopes to rebound against the Lions.

"The Packers are noted for their pride," said Schmidt. "They've lost three times this year. They played a great game last Sunday against the undefeated (Los Angeles) Rams and then got nosed out on a field goal in the final minute. They'll be out for blood this Sunday."

A victory for the Lions could possibly mean taking over first place in the NFL's Central Division all alone. Detroit and Minnesota are tied for first with identical 3-2 records, while Green Bay is 2-3.

The Vikings face undefeated Dallas Sunday.

Detroit has displayed a well rounded offense this year under the leadership of quarterback Bill Munson. In last week's 28-10 victory over Chicago Munson hit on 13 of 22 passes for 169 yards and one touchdown. That pushed his season record to 36 of 85 passes completed for 659 yards and a 65.9 percentage. This includes seven touchdowns and only two interceptions.

Mel Farr carried the ball 18

times for 138 yards last week and caught six passes for 73 yards. He scored three touchdowns for his best scoring performance of his career. As a result, he was named NFL offensive player of the week by the Associated Press.

The Lions and Packers have met 70 times since 1934 with Green Bay holding a 40-27-3 edge. Detroit last beat Green Bay at home on Thanksgiving Day in 1962 by a 26-14 score.

Meanwhile, three Lions remained unsigned to contracts as of Thursday. They were full-backs Bill Triplett and Tom Nowatzke and offensive tackle Bill Cottrell.

Defensive end Larry Hand is also unsigned, but he is on the reserve list after suffering a knee injury in the Lions' opener against Dallas and subsequently undergoing surgery.

Under an option clause in their 1967 contracts, the unsigned players automatically become free agents on May 1.

The pros drafted a total of 36 seniors from the Southeastern Conference in the 1968 pool of college players.

Wildcats Seek Victory Over Marines Saturday

MARQUETTE—Their string of 13 consecutive regular season victories, and 16 games in a row without a defeat, broken by a major foe North Texas State last week, Northern Michigan's Wildcats seek to bounce back at home against the Quantico Marines Saturday afternoon.

Kick-off time for the annual Homecoming contest is 1:30 CDT at NMU's Memorial Field. Northern head coach Rolfe Dotsch reported that his squad came through the North Texas game in "surprisingly good condition" in light of the physical pounding absorbed in Saturday night's 17-3 loss.

Major question mark is full-back Kent Lefebvre, who is listed in the probable lineup because of a knee injury. Sophomore place-kicker Gene Grady is expected to take over the starting assignment against the Marines.

Dotsch also announced one other personnel change. Reserve fullback Dick Haynes has been moved to tight end as a back up man for Paul Santoni.

Steve Slining, who had been a swing man at outside tackle and tight end, will now concentrate on the tackle duties.

Quantico arrives on the NMU campus with a 1-4 record. Their lone win was over Drake, 33-31, while losses have come at the hands of Presbyterian, 10-0, major opponent Xavier, 28-12, Pensacola Navy, and quarterback Roger Staubach, 31-7, and Northeast Louisiana, 13-0.

By way of comparison, Drake, a two point loser to the Marines, also dropped a two point decision, 21-19, to Northern Iowa. NMU defeated Northern Iowa 24-13 on what Dotsch termed "pure luck" to open the season.

Dotsch describes the Marines as "loaded with talent." The Quantico roster is liberally sprinkled with former college players and outstanding high school stars.

"Quantico just hasn't jelled," said Dotsch. "But one of these Saturdays those fellows are going to mold into a unit and really make it rough for someone. I just hope it doesn't happen this week-end."

Saturday's Homecoming game is the final home appearance of the season for the Wildcats, who are now 4-1. Northern has remaining road games with Hillsdale, Tampa and Southern Illinois.

Eskymos Need Pair Of Wins For Crown

With two games remaining on their Great Northern Conference schedule, the Escanaba Eskymos need victories in both contests to repeat as champions in the conference race.

The Eskymos, sitting atop standings with a 2-0-1 mark, play at Iron Mountain this Saturday and must defeat cross-town rival Holy Name in the season wrap-up next weekend. Menominee closes out its conference slate Saturday while playing host to the Kingsford Placers and West Iron County, playing out of the conference this weekend, ended with a 3-1-1 record last weekend, defeating Holy Name, 39-0.

Steve Shoyquist of West Iron County lengthened his lead in the conference scoring race with two touchdowns against the Crusaders and now has tallied 66 points in the five league games he has played in. Pat Collins of Menominee is in second place with 42 points in four games. Escanaba's Jim Olsen and Dan Mylander rank third and fourth with 30 and 26 points respectively.

Collins managed to hold his big lead in the rushing department although the Maroons played out of the conference last weekend. The Maroon full-back has rushed for 520 yards in 94 carries to maintain a big margin over the second place Shoyquist, who has 350 yards in 89 rushing attempts.

Profs Sparking Riots: Agnew

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew has charged that many of the violent student disorders across the country are being sparked by college and university professors.

Speaking to a politely enthusiastic crowd of some 5,000 party faithful at Detroit's Cobo Hall area Thursday night, the Republican vice presidential candidate said some professors and instructors were poisoning the minds of their students.

The Maryland governor said students for a Democratic Society (SDS), "dedicated to anarchy," and "led by people who preach the overthrow of our government has chapters in schools of this country, and some of those chapters are formed by professors."

"It is time we began to discourage the employment of this kind of person in our colleges and universities," he said.

Agnew said he had received evidence from the FBI and the Baltimore City Police Department that two professors at Towson State College in Maryland founded the SDS chapter on its campus.

It was at Towson State, where he appeared last Friday night, that Agnew encountered the heaviest heckling of his campaign.

The vice presidential candidate was introduced at Thursday night's rally, an annual affair held for those persons who contributed $50 or more to the Republican party, by Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Fish Processor Conquers Odors

By BARBARA JOHNSON

What do Lions eat when they're hungry? Why, moose meat, of course. At least that's what the Manistique Lions Club dined on Tuesday night at their regular dinner-meeting. The courses were a little mixed up, though, because they topped off their moose feed with fish and usually it's the other way around.

The moose was donated by Mayor Leo DeMars who shot the beast during a recent trip into the Canadian wilds. DeMars estimated the weight of the animal at between 1400 and 1500 pounds and said he brought it down about 200 miles north of Edmonton, just off the Alaskan Highway.

The fish course was a dissertation by Harold Slaughter, construction engineer at the Larko Chemical Co. plant being built at the Manistique Harbor. Slaughter said that a test run of 11,000 pounds of trash fish was scheduled for last week but only 1,000 pounds were processed because of an odor problem. The other 10,000 pounds were hauled away by truck and buried.

Produce Feed, Oil

Slaughter said that the odor problem was caused by vapors and condensate from the fish slurry and that the company was changing its processing to correct the problem. He opted that there would be no odor problem when the plant begins operation.

Larko Chemical Co. plans to produce fish meal, an additive of chicken feed, and fish oil, a primary base for metal-adhering paints.

Detailing operational plans of the company Slaughter said the fish would first be pulverized, then rendered into a slurry (thin, watery solution), pressed between twin rollers of a dehydrator heated to 275-300 degrees. The process would then take the substance to an expeller (rotary press) and press it into cake form. The dehydrator extracts about 65 per cent of the oil and the expeller about 30 per cent. The plant should be able to process about 10,000 pounds of trash fish per hour when operating at capacity.

The conversion process can also be used for beef scraps from butchering, corn, chicken offal, soybeans, alfalfa and crabs, an oilseed.

Profs Sparking Riots: Agnew

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew has charged that many of the violent student disorders across the country are being sparked by college and university professors.

Speaking to a politely enthusiastic crowd of some 5,000 party faithful at Detroit's Cobo Hall area Thursday night, the Republican vice presidential candidate said some professors and instructors were poisoning the minds of their students.

The Maryland governor said Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), "dedicated to anarchy," "led by people who preach the overthrow of our government has chapters in schools of this country, and some of those chapters are formed by professors."

"It is time we began to discourage the employment of this kind of person in our colleges and universities," he said.

Agnew said he had received evidence from the FBI and the Baltimore City Police Department that two professors at Towson State College in Maryland founded the SDS chapter on its campus.

It was at Towson State, where he appeared last Friday night, that Agnew encountered the heaviest heckling of his campaign.

The vice presidential candidate was introduced at Thursday night's rally, an annual affair held for those persons who contributed $50 or more to the Republican party, by Michigan Gov. George Romney.

Fish Processor Conquers Odors

By BARBARA JOHNSON

What do Lions eat when they're hungry? Why, moose meat, of course. At least that's what the Manistique Lions Club dined on Tuesday night at their regular dinner-meeting. The courses were a little mixed up, though, because they topped off their moose feed with fish and usually it's the other way around.

The moose was donated by Mayor Leo DeMars who shot the beast during a recent trip into the Canadian wilds. DeMars estimated the weight of the animal at between 1400 and 1500 pounds and said he brought it down about 200 miles north of Edmonton, just off the Alaskan Highway.

The fish course was a dissertation by Harold Slaughter, construction engineer at the Larko Chemical Co. plant being built at the Manistique Harbor. Slaughter said that a test run of 11,000 pounds of trash fish was scheduled for last week but only 1,000 pounds were processed because of an odor problem. The other 10,000 pounds were hauled away by truck and buried.

Produce Feed, Oil

Slaughter said that the odor problem was caused by vapors and condensate from the fish slurry and that the company was changing its processing to correct the problem. He opted that there would be no odor problem when the plant begins operation.

Larko Chemical Co. plans to produce fish meal, an additive of chicken feed, and fish oil, a primary base for metal-adhering paints.

Detailing operational plans of the company Slaughter said the fish would first be pulverized, then rendered into a slurry (thin, watery solution), pressed between twin rollers of a dehydrator heated to 275-300 degrees. The process would then take the substance to an expeller (rotary press) and press it into cake form. The dehydrator extracts about 65 per cent of the oil and the expeller about 30 per cent. The plant should be able to process about 10,000 pounds of trash fish per hour when operating at capacity.

The conversion process can also be used for beef scraps from butchering, corn, chicken offal, soybeans, alfalfa and crabs, an oilseed.

Superior Product

Slaughter and Dr. Merle

Wehner of the Manistique Development Corp. were both enthusiastic about the potential of the industry. They said that Larko initiates an entirely different method of processing fish and that the fish meal produced is far superior to that being processed in other plants.

"About 85 per cent of the protein value is retained in the Larko meal," Dr. Wehner said, "compared to about only 65 per cent retained by existing processes."

The local plant's primary source will be trash fish, Slaughter said, and said it may take time to educate commercial fishermen on the value of fishing alewives. If necessary the fish can be trucked in from northern Green Bay until a local supply develops.

Dr. Wehner added that the small boats used by most of the local fishermen would not be adequate. Several 75-ton trawlers with wide range could provide an adequate supply of fish for the local plant and have the added advantage of being able to operate most of the year.

Dr. Wehner predicted that the local plant should produce a million dollars in "capital flow." The Lions will be invited to tour the plant soon, Slaughter said.

MSU Budget Requests An Extra $15 Million

EAST LANSING (AP) — One board member stalked out in a rage and another predicted "you'll never get it" when Michigan State University trustees agreed Thursday to ask $15 million more from the Legislature next year.

The trustees will ask for $77.39 million for operating expenses, $15.06 million more than was allowed by lawmakers for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

The requests included: MSU campus operation, $59.7 million, up $10.75 million; Oakland University, $7.58 million, up $2.54 million; Agriculture Experiment Station, $5.8 million, up $2.54 million and Cooperative Extension Service, $4.3 million, up $663,795.

"We just haven't got this kind of money in Michigan—you're not going to get it," said trustee Clair White, Republican of Bay City.

Not Affected

White said 70 per cent of the state's population is not affected by MSU operations, is not interested and has not been educated to know what the university does for the state.

"It is not enough to send out a pickle recipe for some local 'cooperative extension' agent to read over the local radio station," he said.

White was the only trustee to vote against the budget proposal approved 6-1.

C Allen Harlan, Democrat from Southfield, walked out of the meeting before the vote was taken.

"You are charting a road to a disaster course," Harlan said. "There is no doubt about it."

Salaries High

Harlan objected that more than 68 per cent of the professors at Michigan State are paid more than $15,000 a year compared to less than 15 per cent at the University of Detroit.

MSU draws more students percentage-wise from the rich suburbs, such as Birmingham, than from Detroit, he declared.

This, Harlan said, makes Detroit citizens pay three times more in support for the university than it receives in value.

"Birmingham will be burning," Harlan predicted just before he walked out.

This was a reference to what he has contended is inner city resentment against preferential educational treatment for students from more affluent families.

MSU President John A. Hannah said Michigan State has tried to uphold its reputation as one of the most distinguished universities in the country and one of the better in the world.

Faculty Makes School

Michigan State, Hannah said, has to compete in the Big Ten in salary schedules. The average salary paid at MSU, he asserted, is ninth or 10th in the Big Ten.

"It is not the campus, but the faculty that makes the university," Hannah said.

Meanwhile, he said, MSU is the top supplier of talent for General Motors Corp. because faculty members are attracted away by higher salaries.

The board was told the budget request was based on an expected increase of 800 Michigan students on the main campus to a total enrollment of 39,977. Oakland University enrollment is expected to increase by 900 students to 5,828.

A 7 per cent salary and wage pay hike and a 3 per cent increase in the cost of supplies and equipment also were cited as justifying the increase.

Fees To Increase

MSU student fees, meanwhile, were expected to increase only $208,500 to $23,44,728 for the next fiscal year.

Funds for building projects requested for next year included:

- $1 million for a start on a communication arts building.
- $1 million for a start on a medical school building.
- $2.9 million for a start on a social sciences building.
- $2.9 million for a start on a biophysics building.
- $1.8 million for a start on a physics and astronomy building.
- $300,000 for a power plant addition.

The trustees accepted gifts and grants totaling $2.77 million. Major grants included $542,979 from the Michigan Higher Education Authority for scholarships and $243,567 from the Michigan Association for Regional Medical Programs for the College of Human Medicine.

Suggested Changes For Football Games

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — I admit I still don't understand all the finer points of the game, but as a captive audience for televised football every weekend I am nevertheless in a position to offer my observations, conclusions and suggestions.

I now feel qualified not only to comment on gridiron activity as presently conducted, but also to give advice on how its quality and safety can be improved and, especially, how to speed it up. Although playing time is supposed to be only one hour, I have never seen a game completed in less than two.

First of all, it's asking too much for all those boys to play with just one ball. Giving each side its own would cut down considerably on all the dangerous pushing and shoving that goes on when everybody fights for the only available ball.

Decision Needed

Then, the players themselves should come to a firm decision about which way they want to go, instead of chasing halfway down the field and then suddenly deciding they prefer to move in the opposite direction, after all.

They should also quit changing their minds about whether they even want to play, rather than to keep running back and forth from the sidelines onto the field every few minutes.

One of the most obvious practices slowing down the game is their habit of doing so many things twice. They run, pass or kick—and then they do exactly the same thing again, only this time very, very slowly. No wonder a 15-minute quarter lasts half an hour!

There's another contributing factor. The stadium clocks leave a lot to be desired. They're always stopping, and the participants have to hang around waiting till they get them started again.

Save The Jokes

The players could speed the action a good deal if they'd hold the jokes until later instead of gathering their pals together in a tight little knot to tell them the latest, right in the midst of he game.

Though my husband is always too intent on watching the action to further my education in the esoteric realm of pigskin parlance, I have on my own absorbed the idea that a screen pass is a pass viewed on the television screen, an offside is the team that's having an off day, two quarterbacks make a halfback and two halfbacks equal one fullback, and a 220-pound safety man doesn't sound very safe to me.

My final bit of free counsel to those who would make football a better game is, send in those men in striped shirts who are always hanging around the field. They are the fastest runners of all.

Two Women On British Cabinet

LONDON (AP) — Judith Hart has been named to the Cabinet, giving the British government two female members for the first time.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson selected Mrs. Hart, 44, a sociologist, on Thursday to be in charge of coordinating efforts to overcome the problems of disenchanted youth and the Scots and Welsh who have complained that London has let them down.

She joins Barbara Castle, the employment minister, in the Cabinet.

Suggest Docket For Grand Jury

DETROIT (AP) — A permanent, 23-member grand jury was approved unanimously Thursday by Wayne County's circuit judges. The jury's first investigation is to be of burglary and larceny charges against a number of Highland Park policemen.

The jury, which officials hope to put in operation by Nov. 1, will be available to probe any other cases brought before it by the prosecutor's office.

Prosecutor William L. Cahalan said the first panel also will be asked specifically to investigate the sniper killing last summer in Inkster of State Police Detective Robert Gonser.

The new grand jury will hold secret proceedings and have power to subpoena anyone it wishes and issue indictments.

A panel for the jury is to be picked by the court every month. Jurors are to be paid $8 a day, or $4 for a half-day of their time, Cahalan said.

Unlike one-man grand juries in Michigan, which have limited terms and investigate only specific crimes designated by courts, the 23-member standing jury will be able to probe any area of wrongdoing it wants.

Cahalan said the permanent jury "will be a new deterrent to organized crime. People will think twice when they know they can receive a subpoena."

Election Schools For Inspectors Are Scheduled

Two schools for election inspectors for the Nov. 5 election have been scheduled by County Clerk William E. Butler.

Instruction for workers in paper ballot precincts is planned for 2 p. m. Friday, Nov. 1, in the Circuit courtroom of the Delta County Building. Workers in machine precincts will meet at 2 p. m. Monday, Nov. 4, in the Probate Court room of the county building.

Decide Question: Work On Sundays Or Lose Your Job

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The question of whether a man can be fired for refusing to work on Sunday or providing someone to take his place is scheduled for determination in U. S. District Court here.

Robert K. Dewey, 34, of Grand Rapids, refuses to do either on religious grounds and said he was fired because of that.

District Judge Noel P. Fox ruled the question is one to be settled by trial in declining Wednesday to dismiss a suit brought against Reynolds Metals Co. by Dewey.

Dewey filed suit under Title 7 of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, claiming discrimination because of religion.

Dewey was employed in the suburban Wyoming plant of Reynolds for 15 years as a die repairman before he was fired in September, 1966.

Dewey said that since 1962 he has been a member of the Reformed Church in America and refuses to work on Sunday because of his religious belief. He also insists he doesn't believe it is right to request someone else to do so, regardless of the replacement's religious beliefs.

Under Reynolds' union contract the company has a right to schedule overtime work, with a proviso that anyone may be excused if he obtains a qualified replacement.

Dewey was fired after three Sunday absences and failure to provide a replacement.

Urban Poor See More Television

EAST LANSING (AP) — The urban poor watch more television than the middle classes and lower class teen-agers find TV programs more true to life than do their middle class counterparts, a Michigan State University professor said Wednesday.

The findings were presented to the President's Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence by Dr. Bradley Greenberg, associate professor of communications at MSU.

Greenberg told the commission that the average middle class male watches television about two hours a day. He also may read at least one magazine, listen to the radio and scan a newspaper, he said.

"He depends on television for news, for entertainment, for excitement and for information about the world outside his own," Greenberg said.

"However," he added, "the citizen of below standard income is socially and significantly even more dependent on that medium for the same and other gratifications."

Greenberg said the poor may watch television from five to seven hours a day and usually depend very little on newspapers, magazines, radio or movies for information and entertainment.

In general, Greenberg said, lower class teen-agers watch more shows of action, excitement and violence without the news and light comedy that supplements the middle class viewing schedule.

NEW YORK (AP) — I admit I still don't understand all the finer points of the game, but as a captive audience for televised football every weekend I am nevertheless in a position to offer my observations, conclusions and suggestions.

I now feel qualified not only to comment on gridiron activity as presently conducted, but also to give advice on how its quality and safety can be improved and, especially, how to speed it up. Although playing time is supposed to be only one hour, I have never seen a game completed in less than two.

First of all, it's asking too much for all those boys to play with just one ball. Giving each side its own would cut down considerably on all the dangerous pushing and shoving that goes on when everybody fights for the only available ball.

Decision Needed

Then, the players themselves should come to a firm decision about which way they want to go, instead of chasing halfway down the field and then suddenly deciding they prefer to move in the opposite direction, after all.

They should also quit changing their minds about whether they even want to play, rather than to keep running back and forth from the sidelines onto the field every few minutes.

One of the most obvious practices slowing down the game is their habit of doing so many things twice. They run, pass or kick—and then they do exactly the same thing again, only this time very, very slowly. No wonder a 15-minute quarter lasts half an hour!

There's another contributing factor: The stadium clocks leave a lot to be desired. They're always stopping, and the participants have to hang around waiting till they get them started again.

Save The Jokes

The players could speed the action a good deal if they'd hold the jokes until later instead of gathering their pals together in a tight little knot to tell them the latest, right in the midst of the game.

Though my husband is always too intent on watching the action to further my education in the esoteric realm of pigskin parlance I have on my own absorbed the idea that a screen pass is a pass viewed on the television screen, an offside is the team that's having an off day, two quarterbacks make a halfback and two halfbacks equal one fullback, and a 220-pound safety man doesn't sound very safe to me.

My final bit of free counsel to those who would make football a better game is, send in those men in striped shirts who are always hanging around the field. They are the fastest runners of all.

Two Women On British Cabinet

LONDON (AP) — Judith Hart has been named to the Cabinet, giving the British government two female members for the first time.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson selected Mrs. Hart, 44, a sociologist, on Thursday to be in charge of coordinating efforts to overcome the problems of disenchanted youth and the Scots and Welsh who have complained that London has let them down.

She joins Barbara Castle, the employment minister, in the Cabinet.

Cuba lies some 90 miles southwest of Key West, Fla.
